Speech opens party congress

Brezhnev favors peaceful coexistence with rivals

By MICHAEL JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet foreign policy aims to preserve existing communist states, promote national liberation movements, aid the Third World and offer peaceful coexistence to Russia's rivals, the head of the Soviet communist party declared today.

General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev also coupled a resolve to "rebuff the aggressive forces of imperialism" with a pledge to "safeguard mankind from another world war."

Brezhnev outlined these objectives in a keynote address opening the 24th Congress of the Soviet Communist party, a gathering of the ruling party's representatives to review the past, set future goals and select the party's leaders.

No major changes were expected to be submitted to the 4,943 delegates meeting in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses. The Congress is expected to last about 10 days.

To thunderous applause, Brezhnev declared that North Vietnam "may be sure that in its armed struggle and its peaceful endeavor, it can rely on the Soviet Union's fraternal support."

He told the Congress that "in the last 18 months, as a result of the initiative displayed on our part, there have been signs of some normalization in relations" between the Soviet Union and communist China. But he said "the anti-Soviet line in China's propaganda and policy is being continued," and "we resolutely reject the slanderous inventions concerning the policy of our party and our state which are being spread from Peking."

Despite this, Brezhnev said, the Soviet Union is "prepared in every way to help not only to normalize relations but to restore good neighborliness and friendship between the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China."

He defended the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia, contending that "anti-Soviet forces" were at work in Prague aided by "counter-revolutionary forces outside the country."

The Congress brings together delegates from throughout the vast Soviet Union, many of them representing Asian ethnic minorities. But their "yes" votes are automatic reflexes supporting policies that have been worked out by a few hundred political and economic professionals in Moscow.

At the outset of the Congress, President Nikolai Podgorny also welcomed 101 foreign delegates from 90 countries. Red China and Albania, Peking's only European communist ally, were not invited, apparently because the Chinese rejected an invitation to the 23rd Congress in 1966.

Jobless benefits proposed

Plan designed to aid 300,000 now out of work

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional 13 weeks of unemployment benefits that would immediately aid 300,000 out-of-work Americans was proposed today by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.

Bayh says another one million unemployed people might be aided by the extension within the next two or three months.

Bayh proposed the added benefits as an amendment to a bill, sought urgently by the Nixon administration, extending the interest equalization tax.

This levy, which expires Wednesday, has been in effect since 1963 to cut outflows of American capital and help the U.S. international balance-of-payments position.

The tax is on sales of stocks and other securities by foreign borrowers in the United States.

Congress enacted legislation last year providing 13 weeks of extra jobless benefits in times of high unemployment, but it would not take effect until 1972.

The Bayh amendment would put this plan into effect immediately and provide full federal financing of the extended benefits. Under the 1970 act, the states would have paid half the cost.

The plan provides for up to 39 weeks of benefits. Most states now pay 26 weeks.

The extra payments would be triggered when the insured unemployment rate is at 4 percent, which corresponds roughly to a national unemployment rate of 6 percent. The insured rate has been over 4 percent since last September.

Ideas, anyone?

The way to make a fortune is to come up with something that's low-priced, habit-forming and tax-deductible. . . . You can't always judge by appearances, says the cynic. For instance, the early bird may have been up all night. . . . Every man has one thing he can do better than anybody else — and usually it's reading his own handwriting. . . . A woman grumbled about how long she's had her fur coat: "I wanted to replace one of the pelts — and the animal's now extinct!"

NO COMMENT . . . Ron Ridenhour, whose letters to congressmen and other officials sparked the inquiry into the My Lai massacre, walks along a Saigon street today. A former infantryman in South Vietnam and now a working newsman, Ridenhour would not comment on the conviction of Lt. William L. Calley. (AP Photofax)

Red guns in DMZ attacked

No indication of success of mission given

SAIGON (AP) — Four American jet fighter-bombers streaked across the Ben Hai River today and attacked North Vietnamese artillery batteries in the northern half of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command said.

The four planes returned safely, the command said, but it gave no indication if they hit the enemy guns.

The first indication that the U.S. Command was planning a strike north of the river separating North and South Vietnam came last week when the Pentagon reported that the North Vietnamese had moved field artillery pieces into the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

American field commanders just below the DMZ said about a dozen 122mm guns had been positioned several weeks before, apparently in response to the U.S. and South Vietnamese buildup just below the zone concurrent with the drive into Laos.

The commanders said the guns had not been fired against targets in the South and probably would not be since the threat of a South Vietnamese drive north appeared to have diminished. But they said the guns had a 13-mile range, were in the central sector of the zone and could hit any of several U.S. and South Vietnamese fire bases in the old McNamara Line below the DMZ.

A communique said 225 enemy soldiers were killed in a five-hour battle. Field reports said more than 50 government troops were killed and 130 wounded.

The communique said the fighting began shortly before midnight Sunday when enemy troops pounded an armored cavalry command post and infantry battalion south of Route 7 with about 100 heavy mortars, then made a ground attack that wounded six government soldiers.

An hour later, the nearby headquarters of the 5th South Vietnamese Task Force, spearhead of the 7½-week-old campaign against enemy bases in eastern Cambodia, was hit by about 160 rounds of 82mm and 120mm mortars.

Enemy gunners resumed shelling the armor and infantry positions with another 100 rounds after dawn.

Wage, price boundaries staked out

By BILL NEIKIRK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has staked out flexible wage and price boundaries for the inflation-ridden construction industry in an order backed by the government's massive power of the purse.

Nixon set the new wage-price limits Monday by signing an executive order establishing complex, self-regulating, anti-inflationary machinery in the building trades.

Although the wage constraints, as the administration called them, are flexible, officials said pay increases generally would be held to an average of about 6 percent a year.

The wage restrictions stop short of full-scale controls because they will be regulated by a system of craft-by-craft, labor-management review boards, administration officials said.

To make the system work, Nixon reinstated the Davis-Bacon Act, a law he had suspended Feb. 23. It requires the government to pay union-scale wages on federal construction projects.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said the new system will be enforced, if necessary, by "publicizing the nonconformists, penalizing them by withholding federal construction contracts and disregarding the Davis-Bacon Act in those areas where wage levels go beyond the accepted criteria."

Administration officials said the plan also calls for review of existing contracts in which large wage increases have been deferred until this year or next. Some contracts may be renegotiated.

Administration officials said the construction industry agreed to the Nixon plan only because union leaders feared suspension of the Davis-Bacon Act would allow many nonunion builders to land government contracts.

The craft-by-craft boards will determine whether negotiated wage agreements fall within the pattern of 6-percent yearly wage increases won during 1961 through 1969.

Overseeing the craft boards will be a 12-member review committee to determine if the wage settlements are in line.

Debate between Soviet leaders, military seen

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A meaningful debate seems to have been going on between the Soviet military-industrial complex and the communist party leadership as the party prepared for the opening of its 24th Congress today.

On the eve of the Congress, while the 5,000 delegates and guests from all over the world were gathering, Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, the defense minister, paid tribute to those sections of industry which served the armed forces well since the last congress five years ago.

On the same day Pravda, the party newspaper, praised those sections of industry serving the demands of the consumer. It mentioned the "defense capacity of the Soviet state" only after calling attention to the importance of raising the people's living standards. In fact, Pravda seemed a trifle sharp in referring to the need for a "scientific and realistic approach to economic and social problems."

Grechko, writing in the armed forces newspaper, Krasnaya Zvezda, or Red Star, made no bones about what he considered most important to the economy. He praised the development since the 23rd Congress of the electronic, power, engineering and precision instrument industries for making the armed forces stronger. He applauded developments in the fields of missile-armed nuclear submarines, super-sonic military aircraft, various missile systems and so forth. All this, he wrote, was in the interests of peace.

Was that some kind of warning? Do the military men feel the civilians have gone too far in trying to trim military sails? Are they continuing to insist on their priorities? It is notable that on paper, for the first time, the five-year plan to be adopted by this Congress gives the top priority to the consumer economy.

The civilian leaders seem to be pulled in two directions at the same time, as if seeking to better the ordinary man's life while imposing old restrictions upon him. This Congress is being called in many quarters the Congress of Re-Stalinization, as the 20th under Khrushchev in 1956 was known as the Congress of De-Stalinization.

One reason for this state of affairs may be that the present collective running the ruling Politburo is weak, essentially. The members are aging. Their average age is 63, and even the Central Committee behind them averages about 60. Younger men are pushing to climb up the ladder.

The military is a powerful force which could give a young politician a good leg up if it were so inclined. There is no reason to suspect that younger men in the hierarchy are inclined to be softer than their predecessors. Their impatience in itself might make them quite the opposite, and a return to Stalinist methods might be a welcome response to consumer demands and intellectual dissent.

The military, no matter what it says about the achievements of Soviet industry, has indicated in recent times a measure of unhappiness. It is also annoyed, and makes this plain, by continuing dissent and by restiveness among young people, even though these things may not be widespread.

Dissent and youthful discontent were dealt with decisively in Stalin's day. Perhaps the Soviet military-industrial complex would welcome a return to a system which would allow no-nonsense crackdowns wherever needed.

An AP News Analysis

Jurors now must pick Calley fate

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Shaken by a verdict he didn't expect, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. returned to the courtroom today for a life-or-death sentence that can be tempered only by a long string of reviewing authorities.

After his conviction Monday of murdering 21 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai, Calley spent the night in the stockade—his first time in confinement since he was charged 1½ years ago.

In court this afternoon, Calley's 70-year-old lawyer pleads with the jury to spare the 27-year-old bachelor lieutenant's life. The lawyer, George Latimer of Salt Lake City, earlier had called Calley a pigeon, "the lowest officer on the totem pole in this whole business."

The jurors were to be informed by Judge Reid Kennedy that under military law their choice is only between life in prison and death. Five of the jurors must agree to a life sentence, all six for death.

Should there not be five votes, for at least life, the jury would be disbanded and another brought in for the sentencing phase.

In Vietnam in September, 1969, a military court convicted Lt. James B. Duffy of premeditated murder, but lowered its finding when it learned the limited penalty choice, Duffy was reconvicted of involuntary manslaughter, sentenced to six months in the stockade and fined $1,500.

Whatever Calley may have felt, he showed none of it in court. A stocky man, 5-foot-3 and rapidly losing the hair that earned him the nickname "Rusty," he stood ramrod straight as the verdict was intoned in a three-minute procedure.

But in his interview given in advance with the understanding it be held until after the verdict, he was philosophical about the chain of events that brought him from combat soldier to trial as a mass murderer.

Calley: 'My Lai must show what war is'

By KATHRYN JOHNSON

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — For 13 days, Rusty Calley sat by the telephone waiting to hear about a verdict that would be crucial to the rest of his life.

And he philosophized: "The thing that makes My Lai so unique, it was a small tragedy in a small place, but for once, man was able to see all the hells of war at once."

"I can't say I am proud of ever being in My Lai or ever participating in war. But I would be extremely proud if My Lai shows the world what war is and that the world needs to do something about stopping wars."

When the telephone jangled Monday afternoon telling him the verdict was near, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., 27, reached for his Army uniform and said, "I'm ready."

In the sunless, blue-draped small military courtroom where he sat throughout his four-month trial, the small, rusty-haired lieutenant saluted Col. Clifford Ford, the jury president, and then stood at attention throughout the three-minute reading of the verdict.

When the first conviction on premeditated murder of Vietnamese civilians was read, his jaw tightened and his face flushed scarlet, but he displayed the same military discipline which taught him to remain rigid and stay alert during his court-martial, the longest in U.S.

military history.

Ford pronounced that Calley was convicted of killing 20 persons at a drainage ditch in My Lai, one at a trail intersection, and of murdering a man dressed in the white garments of a monk. He was convicted also of assault with intent to kill a child.

He could face the death penalty or life imprisonment. The jury will deliberate again to determine the sentence.

It was a verdict Calley did not expect.

During the 13 days while the jury deliberated, Calley often joked with friends and newsmen about going to jail. But he also had planned a victory party after the verdict.

His attractive, red-haired, girl friend listened to the reading of the verdict over the public address system in the pressroom at the courthouse.

Then the girl, who works on the post, quickly left the courthouse, showing no visible emotion.

Soon afterward, Calley, white-faced but with a soldierly bearing, was escorted by two military policemen and an army captain from the courthouse to the stockade.

He made no comment to newsmen.

However, Calley said earlier, "I hope My Lai isn't a tragedy but an eye opener, even for people who say war is hell."

Jury chooses death penalty

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the jurors who decreed the death penalty for Charles Manson and his three women codefendants in the Tate-LaBianca murders says, "I wanted to protect society." A prosecuting attorney says the verdict "reflects community feelings." A defense attorney says it doesn't help anything.

Their comments came late Monday after the jury's decision brought to an end the nine-month-long trial of Manson, 36; Patricia Krenwinkel, 23; Leslie Van Houten, 21, and Susan Atkins, 22.

The same seven-man, five-woman jury that convicted them of first degree murder and conspiracy last Jan. 25 chose the gas chamber penalty over the only alternative, life imprisonment.

Judge Charles Older has the power to reduce the death penalty to life imprisonment when he formally sentences the four April 19. Death sentences are automatically appealed to the state Supreme Court, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi says he thinks the case will go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Manson and the women were not in the courtroom to hear the jury's decision. The judge had banished them for shouting.

One woman juror later told newsmen she felt sorry for the defendants because of their backgrounds, and another, asked if jurors saw any reasons they should have spared the girls, said somberly: "We tried desperately to find some."

It was Manson, dark-eyed leader of a roving hippie-style "family," who scared jurors most, said juror Marie Mesmer.

"He was the leader, the worst. . . . I think he's a dangerous influence on society, highly dangerous. In my verdict I wanted to protect society."

Name officers for pork producers

LEWISTON, Minn. — Lance Christie, Utica, and Kermit Vertheim, Altura, were elected and Don Sinn, St. Charles, re-elected to the board of the Winona County Pork Producers Association during the meeting held at Lewiston Monday at the Recreation Bar.

Harlan Kronebusch, Altura, was elected president of the board, replacing Leon Sackreiter, St. Charles. Other officers, re-elected, were Milo Wills, La Crescent, vice president; Joseph Speltz Jr., Utica, secretary, and Sinn, treasurer. Other hold-over members are Allen Mueller, Winona, and Roger Beyer, Utica.

There are presently 78 regular members in the county association and 10 associate members (local businessmen). This year, members will sponsor a cut-out show for 4-H youth at the Winona County Fair. After the show is completed, a class on evaluation will be held including cut-out information and the explanations of terms used. Association members also will give 4-H youth in the swine project help in improving their animals, and continue awarding trophies to the two top placements at the 4-H barrow show at the fair.

The association also will sponsor an advertising campaign for the promotion of pork. Carroll Plager, Hormel Co., Austin, Minn., showed slides and talked on his recent trip to Europe. Don Paulson, Albert Lea, secretary of the Minnesota Pork Producers Association, encouraged farmers to contribute to the county association.

Albrechts take over Ziebell IGA store

Announcement was made this week that Arnold Albrecht will be in charge of operations at the IGA market, 909 W. 5th St., until recently known as Ziebell's IGA.

Albrecht, his wife and Robert Frank took over the market operations Monday and currently are conducting a remodeling program. The store remains open for business as usual, however.

Frank, who has been associated with Albrecht for 18 years, will be in charge of the store's meat department which will offer fresh cuts and custom meat service.

The Albrechts recently discontinued business at the Miracle Mall Fairway market where a closeout sale is now under way. Among changes being made at the 5th Street market are relocation of fresh meat cases, expansion and re-stocking of other departments. Albrecht operated the store for a number of years before branching out to the Miracle Mall market about six years ago. Ziebell, who lives in La Crosse and operates a store there, turned over the Winona operation to Albrecht last weekend.

Store hours for the present will remain at 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, Albrecht said.

Police check breakin at restaurant

Winona police today are investigating an apparent burglary attempt overnight at Ruth's Restaurant, 126 E. 3rd St. Police Chief James W. McCabe said today.

It was discovered at 2:50 a.m. today that the rear door to the restaurant had been forced. McCabe said, but indications are that nothing was taken.

In other police action, employees at Madison Silo Co., Prairie Island Road, told authorities Monday that three tires, two on a trailer and one on a truck, had been punctured by vandals over the weekend. Damage was listed at $180.

Walter Neumann of Neumann's Bargain Store, 121 E. 2nd St., told police at 10:20 a.m. Monday that a cart worth $25 was removed from the front of his store sometime Sunday night.

American Indian is CST subject

About 60 persons attended the first meeting of the American Indian Studies class at the College of Saint Teresa, Monday evening. Teachers from the public and parochial schools of Winona, students from Winona's three colleges, and teachers from Stockton, Lamolite, Lake City and La Crescent were present.

G. William Craig, University of Minnesota, gave the first lecture. Craig discussed the requirements, structure of the course and pointed out the difference between a cultural Indian and one who is classified as such because of his Indian blood.

In the second half of the lecture, Craig outlines the pre-history of North America, the glacial era, climatology, and the arrival of man. Finally, he covered the effect of environment on the first Indians and their mobility.

The second lecture of the series will be held on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Roger Bacon lecture hall.

Zumbro, Root to crest just over flood stage soon

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Three southeastern Minnesota and northeastern Iowa rivers which went over their banks earlier this month are returning to near flood stage today.

The National Weather Service said that crests one to two feet above flood stage are expected Thursday and Friday on the Zumbro River at Theilman, Minn., the Root River at Houston and Hokah, Minn., and the Upper Iowa River at Dorchester, Iowa.

Some other tributaries of the Upper Mississippi also were rising today, but the flood forecasts remained much the same as they were listed earlier.

The Minnesota River remained from 1.9 to 3.5 feet above flood stage at Jordan, Chaska and Savage with little change expected in the next three days.

The Crow River at Delano continued to rise to a point nearly a foot above flood stage and at Rockford the Crow was less than a foot below its banks with a slow rise forecast to continue.

The Le Sueur and Blue Earth rivers also were forecast to rise slowly, but they are well below flood level and crests were not yet listed.

The Upper Iowa River at Decorah was forecast to crest two feet below flood stage Thursday, but on Friday the Upper Iowa at Dorchester was forecast to crest two feet above its banks.

The Mississippi itself was forecast to rise a few tenths of a foot at Minneapolis, St. Paul, Red Wing, Winona, Prairie du Chien, Wis., and Guttenberg, Iowa, within the next three days remaining three to six feet below flood stage at those points for the time being.

Flooding on the Mississippi is not forecast until mid-April or later.

Probation is given on check charge

A former Salt Lake City, Utah, man this morning pleaded guilty to a felony charge brought in Winona County District Court in connection with an incident in 1968.

Robert L. Otto, 24, now of Fountain City, Wis., received a five-year probation sentence from Judge Glenn E. Kelley when he appeared before the judge today.

Otto was accused of forging six checks allegedly taken from St. Mary's Cemetery, and passing them in the city on June 8, 1968.

He was arrested on the charge last fall, at the conclusion of a two-year police and FBI search. He had been scheduled to come to trial on the charge this morning.

Otto appeared with Winona attorney Harold J. Libera, his court-appointed attorney. Prosecuting was Winona County Attorney Julius E. Gernes.

In granting Otto probation, Judge Kelley ordered that he make restitution for all six checks within a year, that he reimburse the county for his court-appointed attorney's fees, that he avoid arrest and that he follow other rules set down by his Minnesota Department of Corrections probation officer.

Judge finds local man not guilty

Winona Municipal Court Judge John D. McGill has returned a not guilty verdict in the traffic case of a local man tried last Friday.

Found not guilty was Jerome S. Starzecki, 633 Main St. He had been charged with violating a stop sign at East Broadway and Hamilton Street at 6:35 a.m. March 11.

Judge McGill ruled that Assistant City Attorney Frank E. Wohletz, who prosecuted the case, had failed to prove Starzecki's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Starzecki had acted as his own counsel in defending his case, calling two witnesses in addition to himself in the Friday afternoon trial. Wohletz had called two police officers who said they had witnessed the alleged offense, and another officer, who testified concerning a statement made by Starzecki.

Judge McGill ordered Starzecki's $20 bail returned to him.

Local woman asks $24,000 from bank

Jury selection was expected to begin at 1:30 p.m. today in a Winona County District Court civil suit brought against a local bank.

Scheduled for trial today before Judge Glenn E. Kelley was a lawsuit brought by Mrs. Ann J. Stumpf, 915 W. King St., against the Winona National and Savings Bank, 204 Main St.

Mrs. Stumpf, represented by Winona attorney Paul G. Brewer, is asking $24,000 for injuries allegedly suffered when she fell at the entrance to the bank on April 20, 1967. She claims that the entrance was in hazardous condition.

Attorney Roger P. Brosnahan was scheduled to represent the bank in the case, which is expected to last three days.

Committee OK's toned down bill to test war

ST. PAUL (AP) — A toned-down bill allowing the Minnesota attorney general to test the constitutionality of the Vietnam war was approved by the House Government Operations Committee today on a vote of 29-3.

The one-sided committee vote appeared to point toward House approval of the measure, possibly late this week.

This would send the bill back to the Senate, where it began, and if approved there a second time would make the Minnesota Legislature the second in the nation to question the war.

As amended in a House Committee earlier, the bill does not in itself question the Vietnam war but would allow the attorney general to bring a single test case on behalf of a Minnesota serviceman.

In effect, the attorney general would be the lawyer for any serviceman wishing to argue that the government has no right to send him into an undeclared war.

The measure is sponsored by Sen. Nicholas Coleman, St. Paul, and Rep. William Ojala, Aurora, both Democrats.

Backers of the bill have called it a symbolic action, even though admitting the measure would have little effect on federal policy.

The idea of the bill is patterned after a Massachusetts law which challenged the war last year. The U.S. Supreme Court refused a direct ruling in the Massachusetts case, sending it back to federal district court.

Major opposition to the bill came from Rep. Edward Brandt, Minneapolis Conservative.

"The Minnesota case would not raise any legal question that is not being raised in the Massachusetts case," he said.

Brandt said the estimated $25,000 cost of bringing such a lawsuit would be a waste of state resources.

"If we're going to talk about resources, let's talk about human resources," Ojala replied. He noted Minnesota has lost about 1,000 men in Vietnam.

Haynes, a member of the governor's personal staff and one of the formulators of Anderson's fiscal program, will analyze projected changes in public school financing methods, a possible real estate tax freeze, proposed aids to non-public education. Anderson's plans for changes in federal income tax deductions and the controversial inventory tax law also will be explained.

Haynes will be introduced by State Senator Roger Laufenburger, who will describe pending legislation. Both Haynes and Laufenburger will participate in a question and answer period.

Local and area elected officials, school personnel, and members of civic organizations have been invited to attend the tax forum. The meeting is open to the public.

Peterson students to speech contest
PETERSON, Minn. (Special) — Two Peterson High School students received A's in the sub-district speech contest in Caledonia and now will participate in the district speech contest at Lewiston High School on Thursday.

Debra Prinzing won in the story-telling category and Joyce Hangerholt placed in the serious interpretation division. Alternates were Ronda Brown, non-original oratory, and Jacalyn Ruschmann, extemporaneous reading.

If merger not approved Lucey threatens veto of funds for education
By ARTHUR L. SRB
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey warned today he will veto appropriations for higher education unless the legislature goes along with his proposal to merge the two university systems.

"I mean business about this matter of a merger," Lucey told a news conference at which he announced two new appointees to the Wisconsin State University Board of Regents.

THE DEMOCRATIC chief executive said he hopes both of the appointees — John M. Lavine of Chippewa Falls and Bertram N. McNamara of Milwaukee — will be quickly confirmed by the Senate.

Lucey said he also wants the two men to serve on the proposed new combined 16-member board of regents.

The governor's proposal to combine the two university systems has drawn fire from some legislators and educators who contend the proposed single system would be too unwieldy.

Lucey reasserted his belief that a merger would save an estimated $4 million in administration costs alone. Part of his proposal calls for abolition of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

"There is always some concern with anything that rocks the boat," he said.

Even though Lucey hopes the merger is completed by Aug. 31 — which he said has been labeled as "M-Day," he expressed belief that the transition to a smooth operating single system might take "several years."

The governor said he hopes he will not have to exercise his veto power on the new state budget.

LAVINE, 30, a native of Superior, is publisher of the Lavine newspaper group which includes three Wisconsin daily newspapers — the Chippewa Herald-Telegram, The Portage Daily Register and the Baraboo News-Republic.

Members of the board of directors committee in charge of arrangements for the open house were Mrs. Larry Dietermann chairman, Mrs. Keith Schwab and Mrs. Roger Zehren. The school's growth is reflected in the increase from 60 class units a week in the first year, 1965, to 300 a week this year, a rise in enrollment from 40 to 140 students and an expansion of staff from two to nine.

Railroads ask Congress for $600 million a year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads asked Congress today for $600 million a year to avoid full-scale government takeover and put them on equal profit footing with other modes of transportation.

"The country is at a crossroads with its railroads," said George Smathers, a former Florida senator who now is a counsel to the Association of American Railroads.

"If nothing is done to restore the industry's financial viability, service will deteriorate further, earnings will decline even more, additional railroads will be forced into bankruptcy," Smathers said.

"Government takeover," he added, "would then be the only solution, since the country must have rail service."

He estimated cost of nationalization at from $27 billion to $80 billion or nearly double the projected costs of the ambitious industry proposal to save itself with government help.

Smathers, in testimony prepared for a hearing of the Senate surface transportation subcommittee, said nationalization has failed to reverse huge rail deficits in France, West Germany and Japan.

Today's session marked the start of a lengthy inquiry into the railroads' mounting problems—a probe subcommittee Chairman Vance Hartke, Ind., says eventually should take a searching look at the failure of the Penn Central, the nation's largest rail carrier.

Smathers presented a report by America's Sound Transportation Review Organization—ASTRO. The industry study calls for government-industry expenditures of $36 billion over the next 11 years and drastic overhaul of federal regulations.

Smathers noted four railroads serving half the country's population already are in reorganization.

Another 18 of the country's 71 major railroads are in trouble and 21 operated in the red last year, he said.

"There are two root causes of this financial crisis—an outdated regulatory system geared to a transportation monopoly that hasn't existed for decades and government spending policies that have treated other modes more favorably than railroads," Smathers said.

Food inspectors say they need more help

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Government food inspectors say there just aren't enough of them to go around so dangerous contamination continues to turn up occasionally in the nation's food supply.

Lubricating oil in soda pop, pesticide in cheese and noodles, metal fragments and coffee whitener and pieces of glass in cereal are among the more dramatic instances of additives showing up over the past six months in recalled products as reported by the Food and Drug Administration.

The vast majority of foods are, of course, free of such contaminants. But the recalled items illustrate the continuing sanitation problems in the processed food industry.

The regularity of contamination in portions of the industry, frozen onion rings, for example, have led to a selective stiffening of FDA enforcement.

As a result, an official said, the government is instituting industry-wide, voluntary guidelines that each producer must follow. The guidelines replace so-called voluntary compliance where each plant was responsible for setting and watching over its own sanitation standards.

The FDA says voluntary compliance is necessary because the government's 525 field inspectors are too few to check regularly the 64,000 interstate food processing plants subject to federal supervision.

Baltimore group just not up to holding services

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Easter sunrise services which have been held about 40 years at Memorial Stadium will not be conducted this Easter.

"It's an unfortunate combination of circumstances, the most unfortunate being that we're a small old group and were just not up to it," said Thomas O'Connor, president of the Sunrise Service Committee.

"We've never been able to get young people into this. I don't think it turns them on very much, he said.

The primary sources of food contamination in factories are rodent and insect infestation, unclean food handlers, mechanical breakage, and machinery breakdown.

Rodent or insect-caused recalls in the past six months include candy bars, popcorn, cornmeal and party dip. Ironically, one producer contaminated a batch of noodles with the pesticide it was using to control insects.

Food handlers are usually responsible for salmonella contamination that can cause intestinal infection. Salmonella recalls have included whipping cream, pecans, olives, and onion rings.

The breakage problem was illustrated recently when the Pillsbury company called back some boxes of Farina cereal contaminated with glass from a broken light fixture in its Springfield, Ill., plant.

And in Kansas City, Miss., a balky machine recently sprayed lubricating oil into soda along a bottling plant assembly line.

Request option on fluoridation

ST. PAUL (AP)—Communities should be given the option of whether to fluoridate their water supplies, fluoridation opponents told the Senate Health and Welfare Committee Monday.

The hearing room was jammed by backers of the bill from Brainerd and Duluth.

Opponents of the measure sponsored by Sen. Winston Borden, Brainerd DFLer, also testified. The bill would give city councils the power to decide on fluoridation.

The matter could also be put to a citywide vote if 30 per cent of the voters sign a petition. A similar bill was defeated in the 1969 session.

A 1967 state law requires fluoridation of all municipal water systems.

Dr. Albert Bergstahler, University of Kansas chemistry professor, told the committee that proponents of fluoridation have oversold its value in preventing tooth decay and bone disease.

A person may get nearly as much fluoride through food, he said, and the added intake of fluoridated water could be "potentially toxic."

Dr. Bruce A. Keyworth, a St. Paul dentist representing the Minnesota Dental Association, opposed local option.

Local option, he claimed, would "throw fluoridation into the realm of local politics... and create political chaos."

Keyworth said there has been an average reduction of 65 per cent in cavities of young children in communities where the water is fluoridated.

At the end of the hearing, Sen. George Perpich, Chisholm DFLer, moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed, but it was shunted to a subcommittee.

Borden had asked that the committee recommend approval of the bill but no one made such a motion.

Perpich, a dentist, was accosted by an elderly man in the hallway outside and told: "Why don't you get a haircut so you look like a person. You look like one of those hippies."

"I just got a haircut," Perpich said as he walked away.

Area students win A ratings at La Crosse

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Several area high school students received "A" ratings in the district high school speech contest here Saturday at La Crosse State University.

Aquinas and Onalaska high school led with nine A's and Gale-Ettrich High School claimed eight.

Other high schools and the number of A's received were: Black River Falls, seven; Arcadia, five; Cochrane-Pountain City, Independence, four; Blair, Holmen, and Taylor, three each, and Whitehall, two.

Students receiving A's are eligible to compete in the state contest in Madison April 24.

The district event was sponsored by the LCU speech department and the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association.

Included were four-minute speeches, original oratorics, public address, significant speeches, extemporaneous speaking, interpretative reading of poetry and prose, play acting and memorized declamation.

Litchfield surgeon: there's an obvious antipathy to doctors

By MARTHA MALAN
LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Dr. William A. Nolen says the public feels about doctors the way he feels about car dealers.

Nolen, 43, is practicing surgeon at Litchfield, a central Minnesota community of 5,300 residents. He is also the author of the best-selling book, "The Making of a Surgeon," an inside view of the foibles and fallibility of surgeons.

"There's an obvious antipathy toward doctors in this country," Nolen said recently. "And I think it's a perfectly natural reaction—because I feel the same way about people who sell cars."

"I hate cars and I hate to spend a nickel on a car. But I have to do it. People feel the same way about doctors. They hate to have to spend money on their health."

Now that he's back from a trip around the country to promote his book, Nolen said, his life has returned to its regular routine.

He still wears white socks to work, because "you don't have to bother matching them up in the morning," and he still avoids wearing a tie whenever possible.

"If someone I know has a friend up from the Cities (Minneapolis and St. Paul, some 70 miles east) or somewhere, they'll make a point of introducing me if I run into them, which probably wouldn't have happened before. But that's about it," he said.

Dr. Nolen, his wife, Joan, and their six children, ages 8 to 16, live in a two-story, stucco house down the street from the Litchfield Clinic.

Nolen acknowledged in an interview the medical profession seems to have taken a great interest in the book. But said there have been surprisingly few complaints.

Some readers have questioned whether the book's detailing of surgical errors, some of which were fatal, might cause a loss of public confidence in the medical profession. But Nolen doesn't buy the argument.

Wage, price

No restraints on profits set

Appointed by the labor secretary, it will include union, management and public representatives and will be known as the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee.

There will be similar boundaries for prices, but administration officials said those limitations have not been developed.

Administration officials said Nixon has no authority to set up restraints on profits in the industry.

The President's power to restrain or freeze wages and prices comes from standby authority approved last year by Congress. A bill extending the authority to June 1 was passed 163 to 143 by the House Monday and sent to the Senate.

The House defeated an amendment by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., which opponents said would have prevented Nixon from attempting to stabilize wages and prices in the construction industry without similar moves for the entire economy.

Meantime, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., proposed creation of an emergency price stabilization board with powers to monitor inflationary wage and price increases in all industries.

It would focus public attention on inflationary wage and price increases, he said. It is the type of board recommended by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board,

"I don't think I'll shake anybody else's confidence," he said, "because my confidence isn't shaken. And I know as much about it as anybody."

"If I send my kids or my wife or even myself to a surgeon, even though I know the guy's perfectly human, I still have utter confidence in him. And if something disastrous happens, it's just one of those things that were unavoidable."

One of the letters he has received—both critical and laudatory—the ones that have upset him, Nolen said, were the 15 or 20 he has received from people desperately seeking advice he isn't able to give.

Nolen said there really are no guidelines for choosing one surgeon over another.

The new gas dryer. (with permanent press setting)

Isn't it about time you replaced your old gas dryer with a new permanent press gas dryer?

"Set-it-and-forget-it" temperature controls let you dry the heaviest or the most delicate fabrics without a second thought. The permanent press setting dries the new fabrics so wrinkle-free that you can forget about ironing.

Teachers enjoying big salary gains

Winona's public school teachers have expressed no official reaction to the School Board's latest counter-proposal on a teachers' salary schedule for the 1971-72 contract year but it's probable that the Teachers Council will return to the bargaining table with an objection that the board's proposed 3.78 percent increase in increments is inadequate.

Yet, for many Winonans who feel the pinch of an inflated economy as the teachers do in presenting their request for a far more substantial improvement in the wage structure, the $500 and more a month that most teachers would realize in increased wages for a 186-day work year beginning next fall doesn't seem unreasonable.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the teachers' assertion that a schedule that would add something more than $400,000 to this year's $2.8 million instructional payroll is necessary if they are to, at least, maintain their economic position, is open to question.

Some major upward revisions in the schedule structure effected in the past few years have resulted in an approximately 42 percent increase in the average faculty wage during the past five years.

As a matter of fact, the median salary paid in Winona's school system has ranked among the highest in Minnesota for a number of years and, while median and average figures cannot be mixed indiscriminately, medians here during the past decade or so have shown Winona faculty members to be in a favorable financial position among colleagues elsewhere in the state.

The teachers this year are requesting a raise in the maximum base salary for the 186-day work year that would represent a better than 100 percent increase over the upper limit of the 1961-62 salary schedule.

In that year the Winona median was $7,100 — in other words, as many teachers earned more than that figure as received less — while the average salary for a Minnesota teacher was $5,325, compared with a national average of $5,215, which placed Minnesota 20th in a listing of 50 states. The average salary is arrived at by dividing the total payroll by the number of full-time teachers. Average figures vary as changes occur in the total payroll and the number of personnel involved.

A PROFILE ON how Winona teachers have improved their economic position in the past five years can be seen in the listing below.

It should be noted that the salaries presented are base figures for what usually ranges from a 38- to 39-week work year.

In addition, compensation is received for work done beyond the stipulated contract year, for summer, evening school and other instruction and for assignments of supervision of various school activities.

| Contract year | Base salary | Maximum | Average for staff |
|---------------|-------------|----------|-------------------|
| 1970 - 71 | $7,000 | $13,900 | $10,331 |
| 1969 - 70 | 6,800 | 13,100 | 9,818 |
| 1968 - 69 | 6,000 | 11,100 | 8,493 |
| 1967 - 68 | 5,400 | 10,000 | 7,690 |
| 1966 - 67 | 5,150 | 9,373 | 7,258 |

WINONA TODAY, fortunately, is one of the few larger school systems in the state where the School Board and teachers continue to attempt through direct negotiations to resolve contract issues rather than resorting to a wage adjustment panel for its recommendation.

It's long been our conviction that a more mutually satisfactory solution to contract problems can be realized by teachers and school directors intimately knowledgeable of the problems working out an agreement across a bargaining table rather than introducing a third party who is not, as fully aware of all the facets of the issues involved.

Although the present board offer is quite comparable to percentage increases granted in districts where settlements have been reached, admittedly these settlements have been achieved, for the most part, in school systems much smaller than Winona.

Nevertheless, it appears certain that whatever route is taken in resolving next year's contract issues, teachers are going to have to set their sights a good deal lower, than their present $15,960 goal for an upper limit and that a substantial reduction in their current request can be made while still assuring them of some significant salary increases next year. — C.G.H.

It shouldn't be hard to get the two-thirds vote needed in Senate and House to pass Byrd's resolution. Resentment against the gentlemanly insurgent should have vanished long ago. And alas for Lee, citizenship won't have much practical advantage. It's too late for him to vote anywhere, unless it's in Chicago. — Chicago Daily News

Agnew vs. Connally

WASHINGTON — Senate cloak-room speculations and cocktail-hour chatter among both politicians and hangers-on is increasingly pitting Secretary of the Treasury John Connally of Texas against Vice President Spiro Agnew for second place on the Nixon ticket in 1972.

Only one man knows or can know whether there is anything in all this chitchat; and that man, President Richard Nixon hasn't the slightest intention of saying anything on the subject for a good time to come.

TALK OF "dumping" vice presidents has long been a kind of compulsive spectator sport not unmixed with active malice. President Eisenhower was going to "dump" Richard Nixon himself — only he never did so. President John Kennedy, had he lived, was almost certainly going to "dump" Lyndon Johnson.

When it comes, therefore, to the current clackety-clack about a dumping of Agnew in favor of Connally it is, on balance, a case of let the buyer beware.

For one illustration, one senses, though he never could prove it, that Mr. Nixon's current attitude toward Vice President Agnew lacks excessive warmth. Too, it is at the same time blazingly — and obviously deliberately — apparent that the President is engaged upon a massive buildup of his new Treasury man, a former Democratic governor of Texas, to the virtual exclusion of everybody else around him.

William S. White

Mr. Nixon, for example, sends to Congress a massive and complex plan to reduce the number of government departments and then turns the whole thing over to John Connally with an air of suggesting that if anybody wants to know who the real powerhouse on domestic affairs in general is, he has only to look at a man whose nominal responsibility is simply to run the Treasury.

One might readily and logically suppose that all this has made a fellow called Agnew most unhappy — but in this case one would be quite wrong. For Agnew gives to those who see him in reasonably intimate circumstances the very strong impression that he would be far from brokenhearted if he were "dumped." He would most certainly never be a supplicant for four more years of the job; and it is even conceivable that the ultimate question might not be so much whether Mr. Nixon will want Mr. Agnew as to whether Mr. Agnew will want to go on the ticket anyhow.

The bean and the pill

BOGOTA, Colombia — This nation's greatest short-range problem would be solved if every American housewife brewed twice as many cups of coffee and its greatest long-range problem would be solved if every Colombian housewife took the pill. However, since neither event is likely to occur, a time of trouble looms.

The coffee bean and the birth control pill are at the root of almost each basic issue. Consciously they affect the tiny elite at the apex of the social structure and unconsciously they mold the lives of those either too young or too poor to benefit from formal schooling.

NO MATTER WHAT his political credo, every Colombian agrees that coffee could be the panacea of most national ills if only the United States — and above all the U.S. Congress — would wake up and buy this producing country's crop.

United States legislators are held responsible for doling out short-term import commitments and holding down prices. U.S. policy is seen as artificially encouraging African nations to cultivate coffee and ruin what's left of the market. Colombian politicians argue that the only product whose U.S. price fails to rise is coffee. Thank heavens the Russians and Chinese are tea drinkers!

Former President Alberto Lleras Camaro says Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt started the trend during World War II by telling American women to brew twice as many cups from each pound; that, during the 1950s, Sen. Gillette forced down the price of Colombian coffee by 50 percent. One is told the wrecking job was completed by the invention of instant solubles which insure against the slightest bit of waste — or taste.

This caffeine-stained bias argues that Washington has abandoned former free trade concepts to Colombia's detriment.

It is surely hard to convince U.S. women to double their coffee intake and boost the price when Colombian women remain unpersuaded by the logic of birth control. Pastana says the annual population growth rate is 3.1 percent; Lleras says it is 3.6 percent. Either is staggeringly high.

Lleras concedes: "It is a frightening problem and religion is a complicating factor. Priests can help

Divided command in Saigon

WASHINGTON — Nothing is harder to conduct than coalition warfare with divided counsel and command. This cost the allies hundreds of thousands of lives in the two world wars, when the separate nations could not agree on who had the decisive voice on the battlefield, and it is clear from the recent operations in Laos that the United States and South Vietnam are now running into that dangerous problem in the final phase of the war.

It is clear from the private testimony of top U.S. military and civilian officials that South Vietnam invaded Laos with about half the troops available to the enemy, and that Gen. Abrams, the U.S. commander, wanted them to commit a much stronger force, and remain longer in the battle, but that President Thieu of South Vietnam chose a different course.

THIS IS PROBABLY only a foretaste of unavoidable problems ahead. The more responsibility Saigon takes for the conduct of the war, the more it will want to determine the strategy. As President Nixon has made clear, he will, of course, insist on retaining control over where and when and in what numbers U.S. planes and airmen are used, but by the same token, President Thieu will insist, as he did in Laos, on deciding how many men to use and when to advance or withdraw.

For a while, the White House and the U.S. military officials in Saigon were giving the impression that the withdrawal from Laos, a vital month before the coming of the monsoon rains, had all gone "according to plan," but lately the Pentagon has been taking a more candid and believable line, at least in private.

First, it is conceded here now that somebody — whether the American or South Vietnamese command — is not clear — underestimated the strength of the enemy forces in the area. Nixon said on television early in the invasion that the North Vietnamese would have to stand and fight or face the prospect of having their supply routes cut.

WHEN THE NORTH Vietnamese expected and also demonstrated that the U.S. helicopter fleet was vulnerable to mass gunfire from the ground, Abrams tried again to get the Saigon leaders to rush in many Strange, if not, indeed, incredible? Yes. But Agnew is a profoundly untypical, not to say atypical, politician who is a kind of GOP Harry Truman in that he says what he pleases when he pleases. In no way does he follow the ordinary political scenario; whatever else he may be, he is no stereotype. The plain truth is that Connally, the Texas Democrat, is far more "Republican" in some human senses — very cool and cautious and utterly but-toned up in his expensive suitings — than is this Maryland Republican whose whole personal aura sends out this message: "I will do the best I can and then to hell with it."

Too, the vice president, while completely loyal and lacking in personal arrogance, has two important things going for him, one of which is unique. The first is a solid personal constituency among hard-line Republicans — not to mention many traditional Democrats. The second is an immense if negative asset. He is the only man in high place who simply cannot be accused of person-ifying any "credibility gap." Thousands and maybe millions regard him, to be sure, with horror or worse. But nobody thinks that he is afraid on any occasion to say what he means and nobody thinks he doesn't mean just what he says.

A memorandum by a prominent conservative is circulating among his peers. It tells succinctly and unsentimentally the thoughts and dissatisfactions of an influential group of Americans. Without associating myself fully with its analysis or conclusions, I pass it along as politically eye-catching:

THE SPLIT THAT has emerged among American conservatives was bound to do so under the zigzag Republican administration. The split first shows itself over tactics, but upon examination spills over into strategy as well.

American conservatives in general are oriented more towards politics than towards philosophy. The immediate issues are political. It is easier to raise money, to justify your existence, to do something, if you are politically oriented. We could all join in deploring Lyndon and in urging the GOP to take a conservative stance.

But something happened on the way to 1971. America changed. Haven't you noticed? The conservative movement, however, didn't change with it. We are still wearing the politics of the early sixties like a comfortable old shoe. Meanwhile, they've stolen the rest of our wardrobe. At this point I could easily digress into several chapters on Our National Flight. But I'll spare you and simply note in passing the crime scourge, the breakdown of morals, the collapse of the churches, the attack on the military and on patriotism, our palsied response to subversion (yes, subversion) in our schools, the drug epidemic, our racial crisis, the terror in our schools, the hydra-headed menace of the counter-culture, our fiscal problems, the media; and brooding over the whole mess, our seeming powerlessness to confront these problems much less to lick them, is — the man in the White House.

Here we come to a ticklish problem. Some sophisticated ambivalence seems called for, as befits the tragic human condition. On the one hand, we should continue to try to salvage what we can from the old politics. Every roadblock helps, and this is what can make politics an honorable profession. But I think we deceive ourselves if we pretend that roadblocks can hold back a tidal wave. So I believe in playing the Washington game, the lobbying game — but never pretending that this will be enough.

I THINK OUR problems are first spiritual, second cultural, and only third political. But the indirect help that politics can give can be important and even decisive, if we are willing to venture out of the shallow water.

Did you see the article on the Institute for Policy Studies in the current Esquire by Garry Willis? The IPS grew out of the left wing of the Democratic Party in the early sixties. A group of bold, inventive wreckers set about thinking up "un-thinkable" programs; and suddenly their programs became gospel among the Libs, and often enough the criteria of national policy.

Suppose, just suppose, that we dared to look beyond the next White House press conference; that we were willing to risk leaving the womb of respectability; that we entertained venturesome ideas with minds at least half open. Would we go into shock? Would we be willing to explore a few ideas like these?

WELFARE. Let's quit horsing around. The permanent denizens of the welfare rolls, as distinct from the handicapped and the helpless and the temporarily unfortunate, are a moral criminals and should be treated as legal criminals too. If parents of a child born out of wedlock are unable or unwilling to care for the child, the parents should be jailed and the child should be put in an institution. For the second bastard, the parents should be sterilized. (Here I note parenthetically the distinction between punitive sterilization and eugenic sterilization. The latter is forbidden by the natural law, by the Catholic Church, and I trust by other churches. Not so the former — though I have no doubt the bleeding hearts would be aghast at the idea.)

Drastic, yes. But does anyone doubt that our present system calls for a drastic remedy? We should never forget that the cost of welfare is only secondarily financial. It breeds a growing underclass that saps the foundations of education, morals and patriotism, that assures an ever-growing criminal caste that fare attacks America.

more troops than Thieu thought advisable. So the battle was broken off, not without achieving some of its objectives, but clearly without realizing the Pentagon's hopes.

For one thing, given another month and deeper penetration into Laos, it had been planned to seed most of the trails with all kinds of concealed explosives that would have hampered the continued use of these supply routes even after the end of the monsoon rains. Some of this, of course, was done, but not nearly to the extent General Abrams wanted.

The result is that while both Washington and Saigon are claiming, no doubt with some justification, that they have interrupted the enemy supplies and killed over 13,000 of his men, and gained time for the continued withdrawal of American forces, both allied camps are more disappointed than they let on in public, and both are now tending to blame the other for not doing more.

This is what usually happens when there is no unified command and when the sacrifices of one ally are much greater than the casualties of the other. The U.S. official casualty list is a little over 50 Americans killed in the invasion, the official South Vietnamese count is 1,140 South Vietnamese killed and 245 missing.

EVEN WITHIN THE ranks of the American Expeditionary Force, there are complaints of unequal sacrifices, for the burden is now falling on the U.S. Air Force, while the Army is holding the line and otherwise engaged in less risky assignments.

Nor is there much likelihood that the future will correct the problem of divided commands. For while Washington and Saigon may for the moment have a common objective, the more Nixon pulls out of South Vietnam, the less he will have to say about what goes on there. As he approaches the U.S. election of 1972, the more eager he is likely to be to reduce his forces; but as President Thieu approaches the South Vietnamese presidential election of September, 1971, the less he is likely to want to risk a military disaster. In fact officials here have reasons for believing that this was very much in President Thieu's mind when, faced with stiff resistance from the enemy and advice from Gen. Abrams to commit more troops to the battle, he chose to minimize his risks and withdraw.

Says officers' testimony unfair

I am prompted to write this letter as a result of the one by Mr. Benke, which appeared on Sunday, March 21. Approximately ten months ago I was arrested and charged with speeding 70 in a 55 m.p.h. zone. The City of Winona patrol car which stopped me was not equipped with radar. I was clocked by the officers with the aid of the car's speedometer. I honestly felt that the officers were wrong, and as a result I pleaded not guilty. It so happened that I was traveling with a group of three cars due to the fact that it was from night. Therefore witnesses were available.

On the appointed day I appeared in court with my witness. I might add that we were both wearing "longer than average" hair. To make a long story short, the officers took the stand and proceeded to tell a story which I can only call highly distorted. I was, to say the least, quite taken aback. My attempts at questioning them were somewhat futile, and as I had expected, the testimony of my witness was equally so. I was found guilty as charged, given the standard warning, and fined $50.

As a result, I could not help but think of the conflicts which are present among the youth today and the law enforcement officers. In this instance I had been placed in the position of a "hippie" and I must regretfully say that I began to think of these two law enforcement officers as "pigs." Here I feel it necessary to say that this was the first time I had ever been treated unjustly by law enforcement officers.

I have heard of the same thing occurring to many other people, some of whom are not willing to forgive. And many people cannot understand why youths feel the way they do towards law enforcement officers. Isn't it a shame that small instances such as this one result in the alienation of those who really place a trust in these men?

PATRICK L. SPELTZ
St. John's University

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The point that R. H. Benke made in his letter, however, was that the municipal judge had given a student a lesser fine for an offense that Mr. Benke feels was more serious than he (Mr. Benke) was charged with and that the fine was reduced because the defendant was a student.)

Sees no change in propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legislator from Wisconsin says she feels the White House produces the same sort of propaganda, regardless of who is president.

State Rep. Marjorie Miller of Madison was among a state legislators from throughout the country presenting petitions Monday concerning the Vietnam war. Mrs. Miller, a Democrat, said she was disappointed with the reception which the petitioners received from a member of President Nixon's Security Council. The petitions, she said, had signatures of 700 lawmakers from 35 states.

"We received the same old war arguments that we've heard from aides of president after president," she said.

"Presidents come and presidents go," she continued, "but they have the same advisers telling them the same thing."

Wisconsin State Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, presided at a luncheon during which plans were announced for a campaign to persuade Congress to place a deadline on withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., predicted a House Democratic caucus, meeting Wednesday, will approve what he said will be a request for a withdrawal deadline of Dec. 31.

Newark teachers still striking

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The Newark teachers strike, the longest such walkout in a major U.S. city, is in its ninth week with both sides far from a settlement as the result of their struggle to control school communities.

The walkout started Feb. 1 when the contract between the Newark Teachers Union and the Board of Education expired. The city's 84 schools have remained open, but only half of the 4,400 teachers and 78,000 students have been attending.

Monday, the union began picketing Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson's office in an attempt to pressure him into forcing the school board to reach an agreement.

At a teachers rally David Seldeen, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said "The mayor's actions are incredible and devoid of human consideration."

He said the pupils have been without normal classroom instruction and the chances of high school seniors getting into college this fall have been jeopardized.

Gibson, the first black mayor of a major Northeast city, was not in office when the teachers signed their last contract. Since his election, however, he has appointed four new members to the school board, including board President Jesse Jacob, who is vehemently anti-NTU.

During a one-month teachers strike in 1970, Jacob testified against the walkout at a contempt of court proceedings. He later volunteered to hand to picketing teachers copies of the court injunction barring the strike.

In the two months the present strike has continued, two mediators have been appointed and resigned. The first, Gustave Henningburg, president of the Greater Newark Coalition, resigned during the second week, saying he could not bring the sides together and the major stumbling blocks had nothing to do with education.

The issues Henningburg questioned were those of binding arbitration and teachers' nonprofessional chores. Jonas Silver, the state-appointed mediator who resigned last week, had recommended that the board yield on both points.

The union won binding arbitration in the last contract, but the board wants to weaken the clause. The board has lost almost all the arbitration cases.

The teachers also do not want nonprofessional chores as part of their duties. These include supervising playgrounds and cafeterias, and escorting pupils from school buses to the schools.

'JUSTICE' . . . Lt. Col. Paul J. Tate, father of slain actress Sharon Tate, said "There's still justice," when informed of the death verdict decreed for Charles Manson and three women. (AP Photofax)

Jury chooses —

Prosecutor: case may reach Supreme Court

After the verdict, Bugliosi told newsmen he felt the decision "reflects community feelings," and was "unquestionably the right verdict."

"I feel this case will undoubtedly reach the U.S. Supreme Court," he said. "It was no more easy and pleasurable for this jury to return this verdict than it was for me to ask for it."

Chief Defense counsel Paul Fitzgerald, who defended Miss Krenwinkel and argued that the women were mentally ill from chronic use of LSD, said of the verdict: "I fail to see how it helps anything—this country, this society. The country that kills its problem children denies itself the access to insights, solutions."

The courtroom was jammed when the jury returned with the decisions on the sentence, which followed 10 hours of deliberations at the end of an eight-week penalty trial.

The slight, emaciated Manson, his once-long hair clipped nearly bald, began muttering as the decisions were handed from the jury foreman to the court clerk for reading.

"Half of you in here ain't as good as I am," Manson said.

"I don't see how you can get by with this," he said, "without letting us put on some kind of defense. You don't have no authority over me. . . . This is not the people's courtroom." The judge ordered him removed.

The three women, their once waist-length brown hair now cropped close to their heads, sat silently as the first sentence—death for Manson—was pronounced, then shouted and were removed.

"You've all judged yourselves," said Miss Krenwinkel, "and you will be judged!" "It's gonna come down hard!" cried Miss Atkins. "Lock your doors. Protect your kids. . . . Remove yourself from the face of the earth; you're all fools."

Miss Van Houten was led out after she muttered, "you've all just judged yourselves. Your system is just a game in which you all make money."

The jury foreman wiped a tear from his eye and two women jurors appeared tearful as the death sentences for all four were read.

But jurors, in talking later with newsmen, repeatedly referred to the seven killings as "butchery."

Found slain Aug. 9, 1969, was Sharon Tate, 26, pregnant blonde actress and wife of movie director Roman Polanski. Also stabbed or shot at her hill-top mansion in the dead of night were four visitors: Jay Sebring, 26, Hollywood hair stylist; Abigail Folger, coffee heiress; Wojciech Frykowski, 37, Polish playboy and boyfriend of Miss Folger, and Stephen Parent, 18, a friend of the caretaker. Killed a night later at their home were Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca, wealthy market owners.

Bodies were torn with dozens of stab wounds—Frykowski was stabbed more than 50 times—and some had been stabbed and shot.

The state said Manson planned the killings and the women were his "mindless robot" followers who carried out his orders. But it was unclear to the end if there was any one reason why the slayings happened.

The prosecutor said Manson dreamed of inciting a race war, believing he and followers would later inherit the earth. Some witnesses said Manson held a grudge against society and the Hollywood entertainment establishment for rebuffing his attempts at a singing career.

Miss Tate, the wife of director Roman Polanski, was eight months pregnant.

"But there's no jubilation in something like this, no sense of satisfaction," her father said. "It's more a feeling that justice has been done."

After the slayings, Tate grew a mustache and beard and mingled with drug addicts, lived in communes and frequented hangouts of youthful drifters in a search for the killers.

He said he worked constantly, sometimes alone but often with detectives, narcotics agents and other investigators. "I turned out quite a bit, but that's another story. It's a book, really. If I knew how to write a book, I would."

Court upholds out of state tuition costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The practice of state universities charging higher tuition to students who do not meet state residency requirements was upheld 8-1 Monday by the Supreme Court.

Only Justice Byron R. White said the high court should hear the challenge by two Minnesota women to state residency requirements for college tuition.

Lynn G. Starns and Linda J. Mack of Minneapolis claimed the University of Minnesota had no right to charge them $247 each in extra tuition fees because they lived in the state less than the university-prescribed year when they enrolled.

A three-judge federal court in Minnesota earlier turned down the challenge of the two women.

The women cited a Supreme Court decision ruling out residency requirements for welfare recipients as one basis for their appeal.

In citing the welfare case, the women held education is as essential to society and the individual as clothing and food received by a welfare client.

University lawyers replied that the value of higher education, while important, cannot be equated with "the pressing need for preservation of life" dealt with in the high court's welfare ruling.

British budget likely to bring cut in taxes
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath's Cabinet approved Monday a business budget likely to cut taxes by at least $480 million in hopes of pepping up the sluggish economy. Members of Parliament said they expected business tax relief and reductions of individual levies in some higher brackets.

Plane hijacked to Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — Philippine dialect and told passengers they were seizing the BAC111 jetliner for "ideological reasons." One passenger said four of the hijackers were Filipinos and the fifth appeared to be Eurasian or Chinese.

Hong Kong airport officials said they expected communist authorities to return the plane, passengers and five crew members "rather quickly—possibly even later today."

The plane was diverted about half an hour after taking off from Manila for Davao, on Mindanao Island. It first made a 90-minute stop for fuel in Hong Kong, and there 20 of the 45 passengers were released.

Calley case —

Review of sentence may take five years

Latimer is permitted to present witnesses for "extenuation and mitigation" in the sentencing phase but doesn't plan to do so.

Often a parent, close relative or friend will appear in the sentencing phase to attest to the defendant's character.

But Calley's father, a Navy veteran who lives in Gainesville, Fla., has not been at the four-months-long trial of his only son among four children.

"That's between the boy and his father," Latimer said. "It isn't my place to tell him to come." Calley's mother died of cancer in 1966, the year he joined the Army.

Whatever the sentence, it will undergo automatic review through a drawn-out procedure that might take five years or more.

If Calley exhausts military remedies he can go through federal courts to the Supreme Court. And, finally, any death sentence must be approved by the President of the United States. The last execution imposed by an Army court-martial was in 1961.

The soldier convicted of rape was hanged at the U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where Calley probably will be sent immediately after sentencing.

Any sentence can be reduced by the convening authority—the commandant of a designated Army base—for the secretary of the Army.

Latimer called the outcome tragic and horrendous, and added:

"This boy's a product of a system, a system that drug him up by the roots, took him out of his home community, put him in the Army, taught him to kill, sent him overseas to kill, gave him mechanical weapons to kill, got him over there and ordered him to kill."

"And the very same department that does that comes back, they appoint the judge, they appoint the prosecutor and they appoint everybody in the military system until such time as it gets beyond the Court of Military Review."

Of the 13 charges with murder or assault in the March 16, 1968, raid on My Lai, Calley—a platoon leader in Charlie Company — the only soldier convicted to date. Two sergeants were acquitted after trials; his company commander faces a murder court-martial and a captain will be tried for cutting off a prisoner's finger when the day's killing had ended.

One man, of 13 charged with covering up the massacre, will be tried on those charges. The others including two generals, were exonerated by administrative action.

The jury, deliberating nearly 80 hours in a record 13 days, found Calley guilty of premeditated murder of one civilian at a trail crossing where the government had charged him with 30 deaths; 20 murders at a ditch when 70 had been charged; and for the murder of a man, dressed monk-like, in white. On a fourth count, killing a small child, Calley was convicted of assault with intent to kill.

Calley had been charged with the premeditated murder of at least 102 in the sweep through the suspected Viet Cong stronghold.

Lighter and somewhat weaker

7 months later, Dowdy's back

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty pounds lighter with a weak right leg and a fouled-up stomach, Rep. John Dowdy has returned to Congress after a seven-month absence.

He resumed his seat Monday, almost a year after being indicted on charges of perjury and accepting a $25,000 bribe to defray federal investigation of a home repair firm. At the time of the alleged crimes, he was chairman of a subcommittee looking into urban renewal practices in the District of Columbia in the early 1960s.

There was no fanfare as Dowdy took a seat six rows back from the well of the House chamber. Member after member came by to shake his hand.

Most moved on. But some of the Texans, such as Rep. Olin Teague sat and chatted awhile.

"I didn't notice any restraint. There was no embarrassment by anyone. Several people mentioned he'd lost weight," said another Texan, Rep. Richard White, an El Paso Democrat among the hand-shakers.

Dowdy, a Democrat from East Texas, said later only one or two persons asked about his trial set for May 3 in Baltimore.

"Those who know me know it stems out of the work our committee did," Dowdy said.

Shortly before his trial was scheduled last fall, Dowdy became ill in Texas and subsequently had a back operation to correct an injury plaguing him since he was 15. He later got pneumonia and antibiotics given him to counteract it nearly destroyed his digestive system. He lost 35 pounds in many days. And now, he said, he has neither energy nor appetite.

When reporters called Dowdy off the House floor Monday, he walked laboriously and sank quickly into a cushioned couch in the cloakroom.

A court-assigned physician says Dowdy is able to stand trial; Dowdy's doctor says he cannot.

Dowdy maintains he will be able to handle the job of chairman of an education subcommittee on the D.C. committee, however. He plans to confere with the chairman, Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., about pending business but has no doubts about his ability to do the job.

Proponents of studded tires cite safety issues

ST. PAUL (AP)—Proponents of studded snow tires told a legislative committee Monday that safety factors far outweigh road damage blamed on the tires.

The House Transportation Committee held the first of two hearings on the continued use of studded tires after current law allowing them expires May 1. Opponents of the tires testify next Monday night.

Tire industry spokesmen said new, shorter studs will reduce road damage. They also argued that the Minnesota Highway Department has not proved that salt, heavier traffic and other factors are not as much to blame for road wear.

Rep. Jack Fena of Hibbing suggested a $2 per tire fee to pay for damage to road surfaces.

Legislators Norman Pahl, Bill Walker, Douglas Johnson and L. J. Lee all testified that studded tires are preferred by drivers in their northern Minnesota areas.

"My people believe you can repair roads, but you cannot repair people," said Pahl, a Grand Rapids DFLer.

Former Gov. Elmer L. Andersen testified Monday before the Senate Natural Resources Committee in favor of a bill to transfer state-owned land for Voyageurs National Park.

Majority Leader Stanley Holmquist is sponsor of the measure which would transfer 30,000 acres of state-owned land and 6,500 acres owned by counties to the federal government for inclusion in the park.

Transfer of the Minnesota land to the federal government would trigger development of the park, which Congress has authorized contingent upon the donation of the public land.

Minnesota's first national park would open in about 10 years if the 1971 legislature approves the land transfer, Andersen said.

"This is too valuable an asset to keep the way it is for long," said Andersen. "Are we going to save this area for all people for all time?"

Opponents will be heard next Monday.

In other legislative action: The Senate gave preliminary approval to a measure putting the black bear on the protected list. The animal could be taken during a big game season on the regular $7.50 deer license.

The Senate Natural Resources Committee approved a bill allocating $270,000 in the next biennium to the University of Minnesota for research in wild rice diseases.

The House approved a bill allowing police to make arrests without warrants if an officer has "probable cause" to believe a crime has been committed and that the person being arrested committed the crime.

The House gave preliminary approval to a measure establishing a motor vehicle title system.

Legislature today

ST. PAUL (AP) — The House Tax Committee considered a bill to increase the state beer tax at 8 a.m. today.

The House Government Operations Committee took a look at the Coleman-Ojala anti-war bill at 9 a.m.

The House Natural Resources Committee opened hearings at 10 a.m. on Voyageurs National Park.

A Senate civil administration subcommittee considered a pay bill at 10 a.m., calling for $1.4 million in salary increases over the next two years for the executive and judicial branches of government.

The Senate Highways Committee took testimony at 1 p.m. on a measure raising the state gasoline tax by 2½ cents per gallon.

The schedule:
Senate convened 11 a.m. Committees — 8 a.m., Regulated Industries; 1 p.m., Highways; 3 p.m., Taxes; 7:30 p.m., Health and Welfare.

House convened 2 p.m. Committees — 8 a.m., Taxes; 9 a.m., Governmental Operations; 10 a.m., Transportation; Natural Resources; 12, Commerce and Economic Development.

Of corrections

Californian named state commissioner

ST. PAUL (AP) — David Fogel, 45-year-old California criminologist, was named Minnesota corrections commissioner Monday by Gov. Wendell Anderson.

Fogel's appointment had been expected. He succeeds Paul W. Keve, who resigned the $23,000 post in February.

Fogel is presently chairman of the sociology department at Laney Community College in Oakland, Calif. He holds degrees from Brooklyn College and the University of Minnesota and received a doctorate in criminology from the University of California in 1968.

Anderson said the search for a new corrections commissioner was one of the most exhaustive thus far for a department head in his administration.

"Through this appointment, I believe the people of Minnesota have gained the services of one of the most brilliant and creative men in the criminology field," Anderson said.

The governor said dozens of candidates were considered for the post.

Fogel has worked with delinquent youths in New York, the Midwest and California and from 1959 and 1964 served as superintendent of the Marin County Juvenile Hall at San Rafael, Calif.

Fogel, married and the father of four, is a native of New York City.

As corrections commissioner, he will supervise all state penal institutions and be a participant in overseeing programs of rehabilitation and parole.

The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Congressional economists push recovery formula

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional economists, decriing White House policy as incapable of meeting "overly optimistic" goals, are pushing their own economic recovery formula.

They want lower taxes, bare-bones defense spending, more public jobs, a national income floor, a price-wage policy and no revenue sharing.

Disagreeing with President Nixon on every significant point, the House-Senate Economics Committee said Monday all evidence indicates the economy will not reach the height of White House predictions, inflation will not recede and there will be no jump in employment.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., issuing the committee report, predicted the nation's Gross National Product will reach no higher than $1,045 trillion by the end of the year, $20 billion less than the President has said is needed.

The committee suggested an immediate increase in personal tax exemptions and reduction of personal income taxes, both of which are scheduled for next year.

Proxmire said those actions, along with delaying higher Social Security taxes until next January, would cut taxes more than 7 billion this year, pumping an additional $20 billion into the economy.

The committee said it sees no way present White House policies will produce enough economics stimulus to reach the administration's target GNP, stem inflation and reduce unemployment.

Proxmire said top priority should be placed on economic expansion. He stressed the committee's call for reordering national priorities and a defense-spending cut as high as 10 billion this year.

He asked that money earmarked for model cities, water and sewer projects, urban programs and an array of social services be released from an administration freeze.

The committee recommended:

- Creation of an incomes-price board to set price and income guidelines.

- Relaxation of import restrictions and increased imports of such items as steel, oil, textiles, beef and sugar as a contribution to price stability.

- Reduction of the present 50-per-cent preference given domestic over foreign suppliers of defense equipment.

Arraignment set for alleged bank robbers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two men charged in the armed robbery of the First State Bank of New Market, Minn., were to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate today.

Robert Edwin Johnson, 35, and John Richard Johnson, 28, both of St. Paul have been charged by the FBI in the robbery. They are not related, the FBI said.

Car stolen at LaCrosse found here by police

Winona police early this morning impounded a car found near Lake Winona which had been reported stolen in LaCrosse, Wis. Chief of Police James W. McCabe said.

It was one of four incidents reported in the city over the weekend.

The car was found by officers at 2:12 a.m. today near the lake at the end of Franklin Street, McCabe said, and appeared to have been ransacked. A check with LaCrosse police confirmed that the 1964 model hardtop had been stolen. Police here impounded it for processing and return to LaCrosse.

Terry Peterson, 252 W. Broadway, told police Sunday that a $50 stereo tape player had been removed from his car within the last week. McCabe said Peterson's car was locked and in a garage at his residence when entered.

Another theft reported over the weekend was the Saturday night theft of a microphone from St. Casimir Catholic Church, 626 W. Broadway.

No value was placed on that item, McCabe said, nor was a value placed on a window broken Saturday evening at the home of Raymond DuBois, 216 E. 3rd St.

Lineup changes in plot on power lines

ELKHORN, Wis. (AP) — New indictments and dismissal of charges altered the lineup of young persons accused of plotting to knock out electric power lines during a campus demonstration in Whitewater.

Indictments returned Monday by a Winona County grand jury named Edward Starkeson, 20, a former student government leader at Whitewater State University; Charles Bagstad, 23, of La Grange, and Linda Bumbalek, 20, of Whitewater.

The trio is charged with conspiring to damage property by means of explosives. Officials said the three young persons had been plotting since July to blow up power transmissions towers and plunge Whitewater into darkness.

In Monday's actions, Miss Holly Heermans of Wauwatosa, a Whitewater State student, was named a co-conspirator.

Judge Ernest Watts of Circuit Court dismissed charges against Gregory Bruenger at the request of an assistant attorney general, after which he was granted immunity during testimony before the grand jury.

Bruenger, now a teaching assistant at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, had originally been charged with Starkeson, Bagstad and Miss Bumbalek.

As assistant attorney general, Jeffrey Bartell, said Monday's indictments will supersede the original charges, although they are virtually the same.

Summonses on the new indictments were issued, ordering the defendants to a hearing Thursday.

Four persons, including Bagstad's wife, testified Monday in what officials said may have been the last session for the grand jury, whose term expires April 6.

Ford recalls all Pintos; motor defect

DETROIT (AP) — About 165,000 American owners of Ford's new Pinto are affected by the automaker's announcement that virtually all the minicars are being recalled for an engine defect. For many of the motorists, it's the second time around.

A total of 204,000 cars in the United States are involved, about 165,000 of them in customers' hands and the rest in dealers' lots or in transit, Ford said.

In addition, some 13,100 Canadian Pintos and 2,100 shipped overseas must be recalled, the nation's second largest automaker announced.

The recall Monday, due to a defect in antipollution equipment that could allow gasoline fumes to collect and explode under the hood, involves all Pintos built between their introduction last summer and March 13. Some 7,500 Pintos built after March 13 need not be recalled, Ford said.

Last October Ford recalled some 26,000 Pintos because of complaints about accelerator pedals sticking when the throttle was opened more than halfway.

The latest recall was by Ford officials after 90 to 100 explosive backfires were reported, with damage ranging from scorched air cleaners to major charring of the car's front end. Fires never reached the passenger compartment and no injuries were reported, a Ford spokesman said.

Ford declined to disclose the possible cost of the recall but said Pinto owners would have spend about half an hour in a service garage. The spokesman termed it a "very minor, simple" procedure.

Kiwanis Club award program is announced

Creation of five new awards for individual youths of high school age has been announced by the Winona Kiwanis Club and its committee for underprivileged children.

The awards, to be received anonymously, will be for $150 each. The funds will be distributed at the rate of $15 a month for the 10-month school year to each recipient.

One award each will be given in these areas: rural youth, Cotter High School, Winona Senior High School, Salvation Army award and a re-orientation award.

ADVISERS for each category will recommend candidates for the awards each year. The names of recipients will be unknown to all but a few advisers, according to the committee co-chairmen, Fred Boughton and Curtis B. Siemers.

Awards will be given on the basis of need and character but scholarship will not be a major consideration. A typical recipient would be a somewhat needy youth who would, in the advisers' opinion, be able to put the money to good use. He or she could be a borderline student to whom the small stipend might mean the difference between success and failure in some worthwhile extra-curricular activity, said Boughton. "It could help some youngster buy a graduation suit or some new clothes that would improve his appearance when he applied for a job," Boughton added.

The re-orientation award will be carefully administered through juvenile and probationary authorities, Boughton said. Here again the idea is to afford a deserving youth a bit of assistance that could give impetus to a rehabilitation process, he explained.

Funds for the awards will be raised by the club's annual summer time peanut sale and other activities.

PLUS VALUABLE AFTER-HOSPITAL CASH IF YOU'RE 65 OR OLDER

Only $1 enrolls yourself and your entire family for the first month!

Your application must be postmarked by the deadline date--or it cannot be accepted

MIDNIGHT, APRIL 3, 1971

Here is reassuring news for everyone who dreads the cost of being hospitalized at today's soaring rates when serious sickness or sudden accident strikes:

Today, by taking a moment of your time, you can make sure you have tax-free cash coming in for such an emergency...added cash paid direct to you regardless of any other coverage you may have...even on top of Medicare, if you're 65 or older!

Simply by mailing the application below before the deadline of this limited enrollment period, you can enroll yourself and all eligible members of your family...and you get your first month's high cash protection for only $1.

There's no red tape...no investigations...and no salesman will call on you. You deal directly with The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania...and your coverage starts immediately, as soon as your application is accepted!

COLLECT TAX-FREE CASH WHEN YOU NEED IT MOST
Ask yourself this question: If you or someone in your family are struck down tomorrow by a serious sickness or accident and rushed to the hospital...where in the world will you get the money to pay for everything?

If you're like most people who have to watch their dollars, you're painfully aware that the cost of living is going up and up...month after month...year in and year out. Local taxes continue to rise. It costs more money to set a good table for your family and to keep them in clothing. Interest rates on home mortgages are at an all time high...and rents keep climbing.

The cost of hospital care is, unfortunately, no exception. In fact, medical costs right now are rising twice as fast as the increase for other items in the Government's consumer price index. And these soaring costs are for basic medical care, without "frills" or extras!

If you're "laid up" in the hospital, the last thing in the world you want to have to worry about are all the bills that are piling up: not only the hospital charges and doctor fees, but also the day-in, day-out bills that keep coming in to be paid at home...even though you may not be able to earn a paycheck.

That's why it is so important to have added cash when you or someone in your family is hospitalized, regardless of any ordinary coverage you may have. And now you can make sure of this tax-free cash with the hospital income plan, series 2917, offered by The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania!

HOW THE PLAN PAYS OFF FOR YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

When you enroll, you deal directly with The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania, so there's no delay or red tape in processing claims. You go to the hospital...notify us...and you receive a check in the mail for every day of covered hospitalization at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit.

What's more, we send the check direct to you, not to the hospital or doctor...unless, of course, you want us to. Every dollar you collect is tax-free...yours to spend as you see fit, without your having to make an accounting of it to anyone! Simple...convenient...personal. Isn't this what you really want in a hospital income plan?

ENJOY PEACE OF MIND BY ACTING TODAY

Nobody plans on being struck down by a serious sickness or sudden accident...but the fact is, one out of every two families in America will have someone in the hospital this year!

It could be you...your wife...or one of your children. It could happen tomorrow...or next week...or in the months ahead. When that happens, are you really covered against all the expenses? Or will you have to "make good" the difference out of your own pocket? That can mean using up hard-earned savings...or going to relatives for "help"...or borrowing money at today's record-high interest rates.

The grim truth is that a costly hospital emergency can mean financial chaos for a family: savings exhausted...debts that can't hope to be paid off...peace of mind shattered. Money worries can even hinder personal recovery.

But by acting now, before this limited enrollment period ends, you can have added cash coming in for hospital emergency. And your first month's coverage for your entire family costs only $1!

Hospital Income Plan actually pays you as much as:

$18,000.00 CASH for yourself at the rate of $500.00 A MONTH

You collect for every day of covered hospitalization for sickness or accident at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit...up to three full years, if necessary...regardless of any other coverage you have, even Medicare if you're 65 or older.

$12,600.00 CASH for your wife at the rate of $350.00 A MONTH

You are paid direct for each day of covered hospitalization for sickness or accident at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit...up to three full years, if necessary...when your wife is insured under the optional family plan.

$9,000.00 CASH for each child at the rate of $250.00 A MONTH

You receive tax-free cash for every day of covered hospitalization for sickness or accident at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit...up to three full years, if necessary...for each unmarried child over 3 months and under 19 years of age when insured under the optional family plan.

$833.33 CASH for convalescent care at the rate of $250.00 A MONTH

Following a covered hospitalization for sickness or accident of at least 3 days, if you are 65 or older, you collect for every day in a convalescent home at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit...up to 100 days, if necessary...so long as you are a resident patient under the care of a licensed M.D.

CONVALESCENT HOME BENEFITS IF YOU'RE 65 OR OLDER

Ordinary hospital plans stop paying when you leave the hospital...but not the hospital income plan, series 2918, offered by The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania. If you're eligible for Medicare, you also enjoy these wonderful after-hospital benefits:

Following a hospital stay of as little as only 6 days, you continue to collect cash for every day you must complete your recovery in a convalescent home...for up to 100 days, if necessary, at the rate of the applicable monthly benefit!

These added cash benefits are also paid to you if you become eligible for Extended Care Facility benefits under Medicare while a resident inpatient. You collect cash for up to 100 days at the applicable rate.

These "plus" cash benefits are especially important to you when you realize that today's hospitals are discharging patients faster than ever. That's because there simply aren't enough beds to go around. So more and more patients--and more and more senior citizens--have to complete their recovery in convalescent homes and extended-care facilities. And convalescent homes, just like hospitals, take cash.

THESE ARE THE ONLY EXCLUSIONS

The hospital income plan of The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania covers every kind of sickness or accident except only conditions caused by: self-inflicted injury; any act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or any of its complications; and, during the first 24 months only, any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy.

If you presently have a health problem, you'll appreciate that last item...because it means that after your policy is in force just 24 months, you will even be covered for conditions you now have. Meanwhile, all new sicknesses and accidents that hospitalize you for more than 3 days are covered!

Why does your coverage begin after the third day of hospitalization? That's a sensible question...with a sensible answer: Quite simply, it allows us to pay you a full $500.00 a month for a covered hospitalization...up to $18,000.00 for three full years...while keeping your premium for this high-cash protection as low as possible. Most people realize that it's not the "short term" hospital stay that is so costly...but rather the hospitalization that goes "on and on," with bills piling up all the time!

THE COMPANY BEHIND YOUR CASH PROTECTION

As important as all the high-cash protection and low cost of your policy is the company that stands behind this hospital income plan.

The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania was founded in 1794, just 18 years after the Declaration of Independence. In fact, several signers of the Declaration of Independence were among the founders of the company...which is the second oldest stock insurance company in the United States!

Naturally, in those more than 175 years of serving policyholders, we've learned a lot about the kind of insurance protection Americans want...and how to go about giving them that protection at rates they can afford.

All those years of experience in serving people in all walks of life, all across the nation...all that knowledge has gone into the hospital income plan offered by The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania.

19 Questions Answered About This Valuable Hospital Cash Plan

CLIP AND SAVE FOR YOUR VALUABLE RECORDS

1. What is this hospital income plan?
It is a low-cost insurance plan that pays you added cash for every day of covered hospitalization when serious sickness or sudden accident strikes you or a member of your family.

2. How much added cash can I collect?
Up to $18,000.00 for yourself at the rate of $500.00 a month for as long as three full years.

3. If my wife is hospitalized, how much cash can we collect?
Up to $12,600.00 at the rate of $350.00 a month for as long as three full years. Of course, your wife has to be insured under the optional family plan.

4. Can I collect cash when my children go to the hospital?
Yes. For each unmarried child over 3 months and under 19 years of age insured under the optional family plan, you receive up to $9,000.00 at the rate of $250.00 a month for as long as three full years.

5. If my wife and I are over 65, can we collect cash, too?
Yes, you can. In fact, for each insured person 65 or older, you collect a full $500.00 a month for every day of covered hospitalization. And this cash is on top of all Medicare benefits!

6. Are there any other cash benefits for us senior citizens?
Yes, you collect cash for convalescent home care after you leave the hospital: up to $833.33 at the rate of $250.00 a month following a covered hospitalization of at least 3 days. You collect for as long as 100 days so long as you are a resident patient under the care of a licensed M.D.

7. Do I have to pay tax on this added cash?
No. The benefits of this hospital income plan are tax-free. You don't have to make an accounting of this cash to anyone.

8. Do I get my cash direct?
Yes. We send the check for your benefits direct to you, not to the hospital or doctor, unless you want us to.

9. Will I be paid cash even if I have other coverage?
You receive this added cash regardless of any other coverage you may have...individual or group, Workmen's Compensation or Medicare.

10. If I have some other coverage, why do I need this added cash?
Because whatever coverage you have, it can't pay for everything when serious sickness or sudden accident strikes: not only the hospital and doctor bills, but all the bills that go on piling up at home...even though you may not be able to earn a paycheck!

11. Does this plan pay in any hospital?
You are covered in any licensed hospital of your choice, anywhere in the world, except only mental institutions and U.S. Government V.A. hospitals and facilities.

12. Are there any "exclusions"?
You are covered for every kind of sickness or accident except only conditions caused by intentionally self-inflicted injury, any act of war, pregnancy or childbirth, and, during the first 24 months only, any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy. All new sicknesses and accidents that hospitalize you for more than 3 days are covered.

13. Will I be covered if I presently have a health problem?
Yes, after your policy is in force just 24 months, you will be covered in full for conditions you now have!

14. Why does my coverage begin after the third day of hospitalization?
That's a good question...with a commonsense answer. Most people realize that it's not the "short term" hospital stay that is so costly...but rather the hospitalization that goes "on and on," with bills piling up all the time. To give you high-cash protection at sensible low rates, we exclude hospital stays of only 3 days or less.

15. Speaking of rates, what are they?
Regardless of your age or the size of your family, your first month costs only $1. Thereafter, monthly renewal premiums are only $2.90 for ages 19-64 (at enrollment) and only $4.80 for ages 65 or older. For the family plan, monthly renewal premiums are only $2.90 for husband age 19-64 (at enrollment), only $1.95 for wife age 19-64, only $4.80 for husband or wife age 65 or older, and only $7.75 for each unmarried child age 3 months to 19 years.

16. Why are the rates so low?
You deal directly with The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania. There's no red tape...no expensive investigations when you enroll...and no salesman will call on you. So you can see why our rates are as low as they are.

17. What about the company behind my policy?
The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania was founded in 1794, just 18 years after the Declaration of Independence. In fact, several signers of the Declaration of Independence were among the founders of the company, which is the second oldest stock insurance company in the United States. Furthermore, you'll be assured to know that the company is licensed in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

18. Why should I enroll right now?
Because this is a limited enrollment period that ends effective Midnight of the date shown. We cannot accept your application if it is mailed after the deadline date. What's more, we cannot begin your valuable coverage until we receive your application. So it makes good sense for you to complete and mail your application now.

19. What if I change my mind after I receive my policy?
You are protected in full by this money-back guarantee from The Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania: If for any reason you decide you don't wish to continue as a member of this plan, simply return the policy to us within 10 days, and we will refund your money in full!

WHY YOU SHOULD COMPLETE YOUR APPLICATION TODAY

If you've seen "ads" for ordinary hospital plans, you may notice that in our application we ask a few questions not asked by some other companies...not asked, we should point out, at the time of enrollment.

Over the years, we've learned that it's to your benefit to ask these questions now, rather than later on, when you have a request for benefits. This prevents misunderstandings...and delays.

And remember: just because you may answer "yes" to one or more questions does not automatically make you ineligible for the policy. In fact, it automatically qualifies you for fast service when you have a claim!

That's all the more reason you should fill out the application today and mail it now, along with only $1 for your first month's high cash protection!

However--and this is important--this limited enrollment period ends effective Midnight of the date shown above. We cannot accept your application if it is mailed after the deadline date. We can only accept applications for this hospital income plan mailed during an open enrollment period. The sooner you send your application, the sooner your coverage begins. So act today!

WE INVITE YOU TO COMPARE

Compare these low, low rates with any plan that provides similar benefits. The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month for the hospital income plan that pays $500.00 a month for up to 36 months of covered hospitalization...up to $18,000.00 in protection.

FIRST MONTH, ALL AGES AND ALL PLANS...$1

INDIVIDUAL PLAN, MONTHLY RENEWAL PREMIUM

Age 19-64 at enrollment $2.90
Age 65 or older at enrollment $4.80

FAMILY PLAN, MONTHLY RENEWAL PREMIUM

Husband, age 19-64 $2.90
Wife, age 19-64 $1.95
Husband or wife, age 65 or older $4.80

Each child, unmarried, age 3 months to 19 years $7.75

The Double Benefits Plan that gives double security--$1,000.00 a month up to 36 months--is just twice the low monthly premium shown above. To apply, check the Double Benefits box in the application.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We will send your hospital income policy by First Class Mail as soon as we receive your application. Examine your policy in the privacy of your own home. You will see at once that it is straightforward and easy to understand, and that there is no fine print. Talk it over, if you wish, with a trusted advisor, your doctor or your lawyer. Then if you decide, for any reason, that you don't wish to continue as a member of this plan, simply return the policy to us within 10 days, and we will promptly refund your money, in full, with no questions asked. Meanwhile, you will be fully protected while you are making your decision!

Housing survey now under way

WHITEHALL, Wis.—The Housing Authority of Trempealeau County is conducting a survey to determine need for low-rent public housing. In cooperation with the Wisconsin Department of Local Affairs and Development, Bureau of Community Services, Madison; Mississippi River Regional Planning Commission, La Crosse, and the Western Dairyland Economic Opportunity Council, Whitehall, the survey is being made by the older citizens in the county, according to Ray Nereng, Blair, chairman.

Mrs. Eleanor Rippenburg, assistant director, Western Dairyland Economic Opportunity Council, is supervising the survey with George Amoth, Ettrick, as survey leader.

The Housing Authority of Trempealeau County is a rather unique entity, Nereng says. While it functions in a way similar to a private corporation, it cannot make a profit. First the need for low-rent public housing in the county must be determined. Then the authority can act as agent in the acquisition, construction, operation or management of a public housing project with federal funding.

The survey members will be inquiring about the adequacy of present housing. Nereng notes that people trapped in housing that is either inadequate or undesirable because they can't afford anything better will be aided by the housing authority.

Nereng asks that people cooperate with the teams of three to six older adults making the survey in each community. The cooperation will help the authority determine the need for low-rent housing units.

The low-rent public housing for elderly and low income people will be constructed in areas of the county where there is the greatest need as indicated by the housing survey.

Scout exposition scheduled May 1

Leo Brom, activities director of Sugar Loaf District Boy Scouts, announced today the annual Boy Scout exposition will be held May 1, at the Winona Senior High School concourse. The event is sponsored by the Winona Kiwanis Club.

The exposition, which will be open to the public by ticket from 1 to 9 p.m., consists of exhibits designed and constructed by district Scout and Explorer posts and Cub packs. Each unit exhibit will be judged by a panel of Kiwanis members, with ribbons awarded winners in each class.

Ticket sales will begin Saturday and continue through the day of the event by members of all participating scouting units. The proceeds will go to the troops and packs selling tickets to be used for the purchase of equipment for the unit.

The Sugar Loaf District, formerly restricted to the Winona County boundaries, has been expanded this year to include Scout units from Rushford, Mabel, Harmony, Lanesboro and Peterson.

Agriculture Dept. will play down farm parity ratio

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department will issue today its monthly report on average prices for farm products but will continue to play down the historical parity ratio showing how prices stack up with farm expenses.

Since January, the department has put the parity ratio, based on 1910-14 indicators, on an inside page of the report—moved from the cover page.

Several members of Congress urged the department to restore the parity ratio to its former prominence, but a Crop Reporting Board spokesman said Monday that so far no order has been received to do so.

Tito's term of office extended

BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito's term of office has been extended to Aug. 31 by a law passed by the federal Yugoslav parliament.

The national constitution had provided that the four-year term would otherwise have expired in April.

and Merlin Jameson, Rushford, both representing Winona County; Oliver J. Emerson, Waterville, Iowa, and Iowa State Rep. John C. Mendenhall, New Albin, Iowa, both representing the independent telephone company's northeastern Iowa area.

Ace Telephone Co. spending to rise

HOUSTON, Minn. — Since Ace Telephone Association plans to spend $1½ million annually for the next five years to continue upgrading service, the independent company supports the REA Telephone Bank Bill which would provide additional long-term capital to rural telephone companies.

This was announced Saturday afternoon by Ace General Manager Robert W. Bunke at Ace's 21st annual stockholders' meeting at Houston Elementary School auditorium.

The bill, which already has been passed by the U.S. House of Representatives, would provide loans at the commercial prime interest rate at a time when the Rural Electrification Administration has less available for lending.

"If we are to continue fulfilling our obligation to provide quality service at the lowest possible cost, we must seek local sources of short-term capital," the general manager told a record audience of more than 300.

He called financing the major problem of Ace which expects a fourfold increase in its plant investment, to a total of some $20 million, 15 years from now.

As of Dec. 31, 1970, Ace had 1,851 route miles of cable, nearly enough to reach California. Of this total, 264 miles is buried weatherproof cable. The percentage of buried cable will increase sharply in the interest of improved service, said Bunke. Because of this trend, a number of new Ace plant employees have never climbed a telephone pole, he added.

Four directors were elected at the meeting. Representing Winona County are Robert J. McNally, Houston, and Merlin Jameson, Rushford. Representing the company's northeastern Iowa area are Oliver J. Emerson, Waterville, and Iowa State Rep. John C. Mendenhall, New Albin. Rep. Mendenhall is new on the board; the other directors were re-elected.

Wilfred Linander, Dakota, Minn., was chairman of the resolutions committee. Resolutions commended three former directors for their service — Leo Heiden, Rushford, Minn., and the late W. R. Anderson, Houston, and Wallace Nordheim, Highlandville, Iowa.

Service pins were awarded by President Arthur D. Witt, Houston, to the following Ace employees: 15 years — Chief Engineer John J. Mueller, La Crosse; 10 years — Cable Splicer LeRoy Dockter and Construction Foreman Rowland Erickson; five years — Canton Area Exchange Manager Floyd Mercer, New Albin Area Exchange Manager Douglas Sires and Lineman Lyn Sires, Houston. They were introduced by Plant Manager Elmer L. Wright. Erickson was unable to attend because he had volunteered to assist an independent telephone company in Iowa cope with an ice storm.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Dale Anderson, pastor, Evangelical Free Church, Houston. Minutes were read by Ace Secretary Oliver Emerson.

Guests were welcomed by Houston Village Councilman Richard D. Dittman when Mayor J. H. Benson was unable to attend. The nominating committee report was presented by Obert Colbenson, Rushford, chairman of the committee. William V. Von Arx, Caledonia, the company's attorney, conducted the election. Witt presided at the meeting.

Elmer Bungo, Elitzen subscriber, commended the company's patriotic distribution of flag pins at the meeting. Lunch was served by the Houston Schools Music Mothers.

Dover-Eyota board filings to open on April 5

EYOTA Minn. (Special) — Applications will be accepted for four positions on the Dover-Eyota School Board from April 5 through April 29, according to Dwayne Flury, Dover, clerk.

The annual school board election will be held May 18. The terms of John Ferrier, Adolph Schumann and Floyd Stocker will expire on July 1. A fourth member will be elected to fill the two-year unexpired term of James Klassen, who recently resigned.

All candidates must have applications on file 21 days in advance of the election in order to have their names placed on the ballot, said Flury.

Sarah Miles named top British actress

LONDON (AP) — Sarah Miles has been named best actress of 1970 by the British Variety Club for her performance in "Ryan's Daughter."

Albert Finney was voted best actor at the club ceremony Monday night for his work in the title role of "Scrooge."

Now there's a new, small Pontiac with a small-car price for small-car lovers.

Upper left, Ventura Coupe with special Sprint package you can order. Foreground, Ventura II Coupe (4-door Sedan also available).

Wouldn't you know it would be fun to drive, stingy on gas, quick to service and built to last.

Of course you would. We wouldn't build a small car unless we figured it would give you more of what you want a small car for.

Take that low price. Ventura is a small car, so it has a low, small-car price. But it's what you get for that small price that makes Ventura worth a close look.

Ventura is fun to drive. It should be, it's from the Wide-Track people. Which means you get a smooth, comfortable, Wide-Track ride.

The handling's quick. There's a nifty 111-inch wheelbase for easy parking. And both the 250-cu.-in. six and available 307-cu.-in. V-8 respond beautifully in city traffic or on the expressway.

Ventura is stingy with your gas money. Both the standard six-cylinder engine and the V-8 you can order run beautifully on regular gas or the new low-lead and no-lead fuels. The carburetor on the six is an economical one-barrel, and the transmission for both six and V-8 is a practical 3-speed manual.

Ventura is quick to service. If you're a do-it-yourselfer, you'll like fiddling around with the new Ventura.

New twist-lock lamp sockets let you make changes in seconds.

The engine is uncomplicated, and there is plenty of engine-compartment space, especially with the six.

If you ever need to have somebody else work on your car—well, you'll like Ventura, too. Both the standard six and available V-8 are tough, time-tested designs. Same goes for transmissions. The standard 3-speed manual and the available 2-speed automatic, Turbo Hydra-matic or floor-mounted 3-speed are all rugged, dependable units.

Ventura is built to last. There's nothing lightweight about this car. It's welded—not bolted—at hundreds of strategic points to help keep it tight and quiet.

The body is heavy-gauge steel. And it has double paneling in the deck lid, hood and doors. You could probably sum it up best with three little words. Body by Fisher.

So, come on. If you're a small-car lover, stop by your Pontiac dealer's today.

Tell him you want to see the new Ventura. It's the small car that gives you more of what you want a small car for.

Don't forget to buckle up for safety.

Ventura II — It's Pure Pontiac!

Live it UP!

Dear Abby:

Son should tell fiancée he's divorced

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 23, spent two years in Vietnam and came home in '68 with lots of medals. He has been a wonderful son in every way and has never given us any trouble.

He met a sweet girl a year later and they were married. The marriage lasted seven months, and a divorce was agreed upon.

Now he has met another girl (also very nice) whom he wants to marry as soon as his divorce is final, but he doesn't want to tell her he has been married before. I told my son that this is no way to start a marriage, and somewhere along the line she'll find out and be hurt. My son claims if he tells her, she won't want him.

He wasn't raised that way, Abby. I think this girl should know the truth, but if I tell her I may lose my son. What steps shall I take?

—WHERE TO TURN
DEAR WHERE: Start by trying to convince your son that he must tell his fiancée the truth, and if she won't have him because of his previous marriage, he's ahead to know it now. The very basis for a lasting marriage is the willingness of both parties to accept the other as he is! If your son is not mature enough to realize this and refuses to listen, he stands to be a two-time loser in short order.

DEAR ABBY: A boy (I'll call him Bertram) asked me to the St. Valentine's Day dance at school. He is 15, and so am I. My mother helped me to make a dress, and I was so excited the night before I could hardly sleep.

The morning of the dance, Bertram called, and in a very weak voice said he couldn't go because he had been in a bad motorcycle accident. I was surprised as I never knew Bertram even drove a motorcycle. I felt terrible about missing the dance, but told him to just get well fast and not to worry about me.

An hour later my mother called Bertram's mother to find out what hospital he was in so we could send him a plant. His mother said, "Hospital? He's not in any hospital. He looked feverish and his forehead felt hot so I took his temperature. It was 101, so I told him he couldn't go out."

Now when I see Bertram at school he avoids me. Abby, why did he make up that lie about the motorcycle? I would have understood if he had told me the truth. I'd like for him to know I don't hold anything against him, but how can I without running after him?

—LOST OUT
DEAR LOST: He made up that lie because he was too embarrassed to tell you the truth. Besides, a "motorcycle accident" sounds much more glamorous than a temperature of 101. He's avoiding you because he knows his mother tipped his mitt. Be patient. He'll come around.

DEAR ABBY: I just read your Confidential to M. C.: "You were right. I was wrong. Next time a long-haired hippie-type approaches me for a handout, I'll not refuse. I'll give him a dime on the chance that he wants to call his mother—collect."

Abby, I don't know what M. C. wrote, but please don't back down. I'm sure you must have cheered every working person in San Francisco with your first suggested reply to panhandlers, ("Nothing doing, Buddy. Earn your own bread").

I work in downtown San Francisco, and it is impossible to go out for lunch without being approached two or three times for a handout. I don't object to blind people asking for donations, or even the street musicians who at least are giving something in return for the money they get, but I resent able-bodied young men and women who approach everyone wearing clean clothes, and ask for a handout.

Californians are paying such a staggering amount for welfare, anyway, this is the last straw. —"WORKING STIFF"

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jenelle Schultz

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schultz, Houston, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jenelle Jean, to Gregory L. Lemke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lemke, Houston.

Miss Schultz is a graduate of Houston High School and attended Winona State College. She is employed by Community Memorial Hospital as a medical secretary. Her fiancé is also a graduate of Houston High School and attended Winona State College. He is engaged in farming near Houston. The wedding is planned for May 8 at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church, Houston.

Your horoscope — Jeane Dixon

For WEDNESDAY, March 31

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Your success this year depends on your wits, your willingness to move ahead in spirit and physically. Today's natives are enterprising, self-assertive. Their vocational aptitudes lead them toward heavy equipment, heat, mass production operations, commercial development.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You are at some disadvantage for time and energy. Your patience is the first thing to expire; take a break, size up the situation, then plunge back on and finish the job.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Information arrives in a belated rush; there is a pile-up of correspondence, budget-keeping, or travel arrangements. Do something to enrich your home life.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Circumstances are not quite what they seem at first glance—find an advantageous or experimental way of getting through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Take the best of what is offered and be satisfied; close deals, settle accounts, retire longstanding obligations.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Today has a make-up-for-lost-time urgency; go at things as if they really were this simple. It works well for the time being.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You receive special attention from others, for several different reasons. Assume nothing and continue your program undisturbed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Today deserves a steady, upbeat effort from you. Many outstanding matters can be completed to the satisfaction of all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Much of what you hear is incomplete—wait for the full story, and while waiting, remember your previous opinions and commitments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Existing schedules provide a necessary frame of reference. If you have none, find out what the situation offers and make out a systematic program.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): See that all wheels turn, being sure to take credit. The one thing to avoid is action taken before you're sure somebody else isn't already on the particular job.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Prepare for displacements and interruptions. Sometimes preparation serves to prevent the unwanted event. Restore equilibrium promptly.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Clear communications are more important than most other factors. If you achieve real understanding, there's little problem.

Melba Marie Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Johnson, Caledonia, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter Melba Marie, to Mark Staven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Overt Staven, Spring Grove, Minn.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of Houston High School and is employed as a teacher's aide in the Houston School. Her fiancé is a graduate of Spring Grove High School and is employed by Whit-Craft Houseboat Division, North American Rockwell, Winona.

The wedding is planned for May 21 at Evangelical Free Church here.

Drake band to play concert on Thursday

The Drake University concert band of 75 student musicians from Des Moines, Iowa, will present a concert in Center for the Performing Arts, Winona State College, Thursday at 8 p.m.

The Drake University concert band, currently on its 35th annual spring tour, is recognized as one of the nation's finest collegiate musical organizations.

Under the baton of Don R. Marcouiller, director of bands at Drake since 1955, the concert band will play works ranging from symphonies to marches. Marcouiller explains that the band "tailor makes" its program to suit the interests of its audience.

Carol Butzbach, a senior music major from Niles, Ill., will be featured as French horn soloist in "Adagio and Allegro for Horn" by Don Haddad. Other highlights of the program will include "Symphony No. 3" by Vittorio Gnanini, "Festival Overture," Jack Jarrett, "Minuteman," Robert Pearson, and "So Pure the Star" by Vincent Persichetti.

Marcouiller, who was assistant concert band director and director of the marching band at the University of Wisconsin before joining the Drake faculty, is widely known. The marching band technique workshop he directs each summer on the Drake campus attracts marching band directors from several states, and he has directed all-state bands in Iowa, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Alabama and Wisconsin.

He is a native of Green Bay, Wis., and author of "Marching for Marching Bands," a widely used book on technique for marching bands.

Swingles hold hootenanny

The Swingles, an area club for single adults, had a hootenanny Saturday night at Central Methodist Church.

Folk singing was led by Brother Al and Brother Arthur from the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary.

Following the hootenanny, refreshments were served and card games were played.

It was announced that the Swingles will be joining the Singlehanded for a roller skating party April 5. Those who are interested are urged to meet at the Hot Fish Shop at 8:15 p.m. for rides.

Also announced was a business meeting for 7 p.m. April 12 at Central United Methodist Church. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Nurses meeting

Reservations for the April 6 dinner meeting of the Winona Unit of the Sixth District Minnesota nurses should be made by calling Mrs. Dale Welsh. Reservations are due Friday. The 6 p.m. dinner at Krysko Commons, Winona State College, will be followed by a program, "Seeing Ourselves as Professional Nurses."

Delta Kappa Gamma members attend meeting

Six members from Iota chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, attended the state convention of the organization Saturday at St. Cloud. They were the Misses Louise Bloom, Edna Nelson, Arvilla Ludwiczke and Verlie Sather, Dr. Jeanne LaBlonde and Mrs. Arnold Donath. The latter two also attended the state executive board sessions as chapter president and state directory chairman, respectively.

Theme of the one-day convention was "1971 — Year of Action." Convention speakers included Dr. Irvamæ Applegate, past president of the National Education Association, and dean of the School of Education at St. Cloud State College, and Miss Irene Smith, Idaho Falls, Idaho, northwest regional director for the organization. Delta Kappa Gamma is an international honor society for women educators. The state organization has 40 chapters, and almost 200 women from all parts of the state attended the meeting.

State officers elected and installed Saturday were: Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Duluth, president; Miss Norden Wiig, Minneapolis, first vice president; Miss Gudrun Harstad, Detroit Lakes, second vice president; Miss Evelyn Powell, Duluth, corresponding secretary, and Miss Janet Getting, Bemidji, recording secretary. Miss Wiig, who teaches in the Moundsview Public Schools, formerly taught in Winona.

A memorial service held Saturday morning honored 18 past Delta Kappa Gamma members, including Miss Helen Hillyer, a charter member of Iota, and Miss Georgia Garlid, Minneapolis, who was a member of the Winona State College faculty at one time.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Ettrick, Wis. (Special) — Ettrick Senior Citizens will meet at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the basement of the Community Hall. Each person attending should bring a small prize for the games to be played and lunch will be served by Mmes. Ada Ekern and Vivien Pederson.

Memorials, donations asked by BRF auxiliary

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. — The Black River Memorial Hospital will seek to encourage memorials and donations for needed facilities and equipment, according to Richard N. Manuel, hospital administrator.

Donations and memorials of $50 and under will be turned over to the hospital auxiliary for the scholarship, art fund, or for the existing project the auxiliary is engaged in at the time of the donation. Donations of more than $50 will be used toward the purchase of needed equipment or facilities, as specified by the donor.

Donations from $50 to $1,000 will be inscribed and placed in a memorial and donation book which will be displayed in the hospital lobby. Donations of more than $1,000 will have a suitable plaque inscribed and placed in the facility or on the piece of equipment in accordance with the wishes of the donor.

The hospital will acknowledge all donations and donors will be notified as to the disposition of the gift. A list of needed facilities and equipment will be available at the hospital.

The Black River Memorial Hospital auxiliary now has more than $1,400 which has been given as memorials and donations that will go toward the purchase of the mobile X-ray unit, unless specified for the scholarship or art funds.

The hospital serves patients in Jackson, Clark, Trempealeau and Monroe counties and has a staff of eight doctors.

Girl Scout camp dates announced

Girl Scouts needing financial aid for resident or day camps must send applications to the Girl Scout office by Thursday.

Campership applications are available from troop leaders. Funds administered by the campership committee are derived from the cookie sale and from donations of interested individuals and organizations. Camperships are granted on the basis of need within the limits of funds available.

River Trails Girl Scout camping program is solely supported by camp fees and profits from the Girl Scout cookie sale. Profit from the cookie sale is used to maintain and improve existing camp properties and to provide equipment.

Cookie credits are provided by the council to help girls help themselves pay for resident camp. Girls selling 25 or more packages of Girl Scout cookies are eligible for cookie credits. Whispering Hills, a 74-acre campsite now being developed in Houston County, was purchased with the profits of sales of more than 182,000 boxes of Girl Scout cookies.

Dates for resident camp at Wi-Gi-Sco-Ca are June 27-July 9, July 11-23, July 25-Aug. 6 and Aug. 8-20. Resident camp at Edith Mayo is scheduled for June 20-July 2, July 4-16, July 18-30 and Aug. 1-13. Specialized camps at Wi-Gi-Sco-Ca and Whispering Hills include ranger aide unit July 11-23, back pack unit July 25-Aug. 6, primitive unit Aug. 8-20. Primitive canoe unit is planned for Wi-Gi-Sco-Ca June 27-July 9 and arts units for camp Edith Mayo June 20-July 2 and Aug. 1-13.

Mrs. Gary Hanson will direct Wi-Gi-Sco-Ca day camp Aug. 23-27. The bus will leave from the Cathedral parking lot daily.

YWCA heads at leadership workshop

Miss Dorothea Huntley, executive director of the YWCA, and Mrs. David White, board president, returned Sunday from a YWCA leadership workshop in Waterloo, Iowa. It was held for the purpose of training key personnel in ways to implement the one imperative of the National YWCA which is "to eliminate racism, wherever it exists and by any means necessary." During the three-day workshop, women were made aware of the problem of white racism and of the concern of the YWCA that their own institutions be rid of racist overtones before taking a look out into the community.

The workshop was one of 15 in the nation and was attended by 36 women from YWCA associations in five states, a leadership team of six, and two from student YWCA associations. The workshops will be followed by institutes concentrating on specific areas of concern. Institutes to be held in cities nearest Winona are "Racism and the Communication Media," Milwaukee, Wis., April 16-18, and "Racism and Justice Before the Law," Minneapolis, April 26-28.

The institutes will be attended by persons from other concerned community organizations as well as YWCA members.

Smith turns Bucks around

By BOB GREENE
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Little" Greg Smith apparently felt his job was on the line Monday night and the San Francisco Warriors took the brunt of his wrath.

The Milwaukee Bucks spent the afternoon picking big forwards in the National Basketball Association's college draft. That night, Smith, a 6-foot-5 veteran from Western Kentucky, admittedly small for an NBA forward, sparked a Bucks' spurt that catapulted Milwaukee into 104-90 victory and a 2-0 lead in the Western Conference semifinal playoffs.

"What was the difference in the game?" Warrior coach Al Attles asked. "I think it was Greg Smith who turned the game around. It was Greg Smith and a combination of mistakes."

San Francisco led 52-51 midway through the third quarter when Smith, a scrambler, uncovered his act. He came up with several rebounds, stole the ball repeatedly and scored seven of his 11 points in a seven-minute stretch in which Milwaukee outscored the Warriors 21-8.

THAT MADE the score 72-60 going into the final period, and San Francisco never got back in the contest.

"Greg did a great job," Bucks coach Larry Costello said. "He really hustled. He came up with some loose balls, and made a great contribution."

The three-year NBA player also sparked on defense, holding the Warriors' Jerry Lucas to eight points. In regular-season play, Lucas averaged 19.2 points a game.

Smith, however, was not the only star for the high-flying Bucks. Lew Alcindor scored a game-leading 25 points while Bob Dandridge, Milwaukee's "other" forward, added 21.

ALCINDOR PLAYED only 33 minutes, hobbled with fouls early in the game.

Attles thought the key to Milwaukee's victory was simple. "They are a great team to capitalize on our mistakes," he said. "I believe the Bucks have just been beating us. It's as simple as that."

Costello pointed to Dandridge and the dandy Milwaukee defense which limited the Warriors' Nat Thurmond to four points in the second half, after a 14-point performance in the initial half.

"Dandridge came to life and we started working the boards," Costello said. "During the first half, we just didn't have the movement. But it was the best defensive game we have played in some time."

THE TWO CLUBS clash again tonight at the same site, the University of Wisconsin field house.

"There are a few things we are going to have to do," Attles said, "maybe something drastic."

In other NBA playoff games tonight, Baltimore is at Philadelphia, New York travels to Atlanta, and Los Angeles is in Chicago.

All visiting teams hold 2-1 advantages in their respective series.

Wanted big forward, get five Bucks draft Jones

By BOB GREENE
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks wanted a big forward, and came up with five of them in Monday's National Basketball Association college draft.

"We didn't think he would be available," coach Larry Costello said of the club's first-round choice, 6-foot-8 Collis Jones of Notre Dame.

"He has good size, played in great competition, can run, and can shoot the ball," Costello said. "He is going to come right in and help us."

The Bucks then took 6-foot-6 Gary Brel of Marquette University in the third round.

Milwaukee's second-round pick had been traded to the Cleveland Cavaliers along with rookie Gary Freeman for veteran forward McCoy McLemore.

"BREL RUNS, goes to the boards, plays good defense and comes to play hard all the time," Costello said. "He fits into our style of play, and he has the speed and the size."

Jones and Brel, who have performed at the Milwaukee Arena — the Bucks and Marquette home court, said they were delighted for the chance to play beside Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson.

"I know they need help at forward, and I feel I have a good chance to make the club," Jones said in a telephone interview from South Bend, Ind.

"Being drafted in the first round by the Milwaukee Bucks is a good feeling. I can't say for too much better," he said.

A TWO-YEAR starter for the Irish, Jones is Notre Dame's fifth-highest career scorer, although playing alongside high-scoring Austin Carr. This past season, he averaged 23.1 points, and 13 rebounds a game.

Brel said he looks forward to what he called a friendly rivalry with Jones over prominence for an assignment at a forward slot.

"I think it could be between Collis and me for a spot on the club," Brel said, adding "You might say I've got the home-court advantage."

"At least I've never lost a game at the Arena," he remarked, referring to Marquette's long winning streak which was disrupted when his school tangled with the Big Ten champion on an alien court.

BREL has also been offered a saddle with the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association. But he said he likes the taste of a domestic bridle.

"It would be nice to be close to my family," the Milwaukeean said.

"I would prefer Milwaukee to Denver," he explained.

The Bucks also drafted Henry Smith, 6-foot-8, of Missouri; Barry Nelson, 6-10, Duquesne; Ed Kemp, 6-7, Adams, Colo.; State; Gene Phillips, 6-4, Southern Methodist; Felix Thurston, 6-7, Trinity, Tex.; Rick Howat, 6-2, Illinois; and Dan Fife, 6-2, Mich.

Smith, a native of Athens, Ga., blossomed as a college senior. After averaging 12.6 as a junior, the junior college transfer with a soft touch pumped 22.3 on the average as a senior.

SEVERAL players with Wisconsin ties were drafted, Iowa guard Fred Brown of Milwaukee went to the Seattle SuperSonics in the first round. Also in the first round was Dean Meminger of Marquette, picked by the New York Knicks.

Clarence Sherrod of the University of Wisconsin, a high school teammate of Brown, was picked by the Chicago Bulls in the eighth round.

Fred Mengelt, a guard from Auburn, was taken by the Cincinnati Royals in the second round. He was raised in Bangor, where some of his relatives still reside.

His maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kelly, live in La Crosse.

Meminger tried to duck the limelight Monday, somewhat in contradiction to the fears Coach Al McGuire had mustered during the season concerning his Marquette University basketball club.

The Warriors held the longest winning streak among the nation's colleges until they were defeated by Ohio State in the NCAA playoffs.

McGuire often said during the glamorous season that persistent victory was giving his players swelled heads.

But when Monday night's awards banquet became a Dean Meminger night, the chief cause of Marquette's glory eventually headed for a door when he thought no one was watching. Someone was, and he was hailed back to the speakers' table.

"One of the most remarkable things about Dean is that all the publicity he has received hasn't changed his character," McGuire said.

His jersey No. 14 was retired during the ceremonies, picked by Buffalo on the second round despite an out of court settlement Friday in which the NBA allowed Seattle to keep Haywood and fined the club $200,000.

The Braves had asked U.S. district court judge Warren Ferguson in Los Angeles if the Braves could select him. The judge, who earlier had ruled that Seattle could keep Haywood, said he could not make such a decision and that was good enough for the Braves.

"We thought the judge's decision was favorable," said General Manager Eddie Donovan of the Braves. "He didn't say we couldn't sign him."

In Seattle, General Manager Bob Houbregs of the Sonics wasted little time answering a question if he would consider selling Haywood to Buffalo: "Not at all — no way."

Haywood, who signed with Denver of the rival American Basketball Association, two years ago after his sophomore year at Detroit University, jumped the ABA club in a contract dispute for Seattle in January.

While the Haywood situation became more muddled, the draft, conducted more than two months after the ABA draft, did fortify NBA teams the knowledge of which players they are trying to sign. In the past two months, the league has had to negotiate for them.

Cleveland, however, had immediate assurances that Carr would sign with the Cavaliers, who took the high scoring 6-foot-3 All-American instead of the expected big man such as Wicks.

Explaining the selection Coach Bill Fitch of the Cavaliers, who won only 15 games this season, called him "the best available player in the country. He stayed at the top of the guard list while the forwards and centers fluctuated over the season. We felt we had to save someone of superstar status."

Meminger tries to duck limelight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A bashful Dean "The Dream" Meminger tried to duck the limelight Monday, somewhat in contradiction to the fears Coach Al McGuire had mustered during the season concerning his Marquette University basketball club.

The Warriors held the longest winning streak among the nation's colleges until they were defeated by Ohio State in the NCAA playoffs.

McGuire often said during the glamorous season that persistent victory was giving his players swelled heads.

But when Monday night's awards banquet became a Dean Meminger night, the chief cause of Marquette's glory eventually headed for a door when he thought no one was watching. Someone was, and he was hailed back to the speakers' table.

"One of the most remarkable things about Dean is that all the publicity he has received hasn't changed his character," McGuire said.

His jersey No. 14 was retired during the ceremonies, grabs between veteran Bob Aspromonte and rookie Tim Foll. Aspromonte, acquired in a trade with Atlanta after the Mets unloaded Joe Foy and lost Wayne Garrett to the military, batted .213 for the Braves. Foll hit .261 for Tidewater.

Donn Clendenen belted 22 homers, drove in 97 runs and batted .289 last season, but the 35-year-old first baseman could need more rest this year. Shamsky and Ed Kranenpool are the likely shock troops.

Ken Boswell, 25, and Bud Harrelson, 34, give the Mets a solid second base-shortstop combination. Boswell set a record of 85 consecutive games without an error for his position last year and Harrelson matched the shortstop mark of 64 straight errorless games. Tommie Agee, .286, 24 homers, 31 stolen bases, and Cleon Jones, .277, 10 homers, are offensive standouts in center and left field respectively. Jerry Grote, .255, will handle most of the catching.

Seaver, 25-7 and the NL Cy Young Award winner in 1969, slipped to 10-12 last year, winning only two of his last 12 starts. But he paced the league with a 2.81 earned run average, led in strikeouts with 263 and fanned 19 San Diego batters in one game to tie Steve Carlton's major league record.

The brilliant 26-year-old right-hander should get more help this season from Jerry Koosman, 12-7, and Gary Gentry, 9-9, who were hampered by injuries, Jim McAndrew, 10-14, and Nolan Ryan, 7-11.

Dean Chance, picked up from Cleveland during the 1970 stretch run, and Ray Sadecki, 8-4, also are back.

Hodges is looking for more consistency from his relief corps—Tug McGraw, 4-6, Ron Taylor, 5-4, and Danny Frisella, 8-3. McGraw had a poor start and Taylor was ineffective late in the season.

Despite their difficulties, the Mets were in the thick of the race until they lost six of seven games against Pittsburgh in the final two weeks—five of them by one run.

Healthy pitching and a few more runs could put them back on top this year.

Tigers trade rookie infielder

Twins send Zepp to Detroit

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — It seemed only a matter of time before the Minnesota Twins would trade unhappy hurler Bill Zepp to his hometown Detroit Tigers.

Saturday Tiger pitcher Joe Coleman was hit in the head with a line drive and suddenly the "matter of time" on the Zepp trade changed to "let's move fast."

The Tigers announced Monday they have acquired Zepp in exchange for rookie infielder Mike Adams and a player to be named later.

Meanwhile, it appeared certain Detroit would receive New York Mets pitcher Dean Chance within the next few days if he clears National League waivers.

Zepp, a University of Michigan graduate, is a 23-year-old right-hander who refused to sign a 1971 contract with Minnesota and said he wanted to be traded to Detroit. Chance is a 29-year-old right-hander plagued in recent years by arm trouble.

"Coming here where he wants to play might make him a better pitcher," said Tiger Manager Billy Martin. "I don't know but I hope so."

Martin was the Twins manager in 1969 when Zepp, a rookie then, came up from the minors and pitched in four games without a decision. He was 9-4 in 43 games with them last year, with a 3.22 earned-run-average. He was the last player Martin cut in spring of 1969.

Pitching duel ends in rout for Milwaukee

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers whipped the California Angels 7-1 Monday as Skip Lockwood became the first Brewer pitcher to go eight innings during the spring training season.

Lockwood hooked up in a pitching duel with the Angels' Tom Murphy but became the victor when the Brewers scored six times off three California relievers in the eighth inning on six walks, Dave May's bum single, Bernie Smith's sacrifice fly and a two-run single by rookie shortstop Rick Auerbach.

The Angels got on the scoreboard in the fifth inning on Ken McMullen's double and Jerry Moses' single. But Milwaukee, held hitless for five innings by Murphy, tied the score on two walks and May's clutch single in the sixth.

Lockwood yielded only six hits and no walks while fanning six.

The loser was former Brewer Gene Brabender, who replaced Murphy in the eighth and allowed three walks and a bunt single without retiring anyone.

Murphy, Brabender, 5, Jarvis, 5, LaRoché, 4 and Moses, Lockwood, Harrison 3 and Roof, Coleman, acquired from Washington in the Denny McLain deal, is considered the Tigers No. 2 pitcher behind Mickey Lolich.

Before the exhibition season started the team received word that veteran southpaw John Hiller suffered a heart attack and would be out indefinitely. Starter Les Cain, meanwhile, has hardly pitched at all because of a sore arm and Mike Kilkenny, who was expected to take up some of the slack, has been hit hard every Grapefruit League performance.

Chance spent most of last season with Cleveland and finished there with a 9-8 record before the Mets purchased him in September when they were making a run for the NL East Division title.

Zepp has been working as a management trainee at the Universal Division personnel department in Detroit. The Tigers are expected to assign him immediately to their Toledo farm club roster for at least 15 days to get in shape.

He reportedly wanted more time to spend with his wife and that was why he wanted to go to Detroit, where he makes his home.

Javier, Cards edge Twins 3-2

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — St. Louis, led by Julian Javier with a triple in the first inning and a double in the third, edged Minnesota 3-2 in exhibition baseball Monday.

Javier scored St. Louis' first run on a passed ball after his triple. Harmon Killebrew doubled in a run in the bottom of the first to tie it up.

Javier doubled and Luis Melendez singled in the third, with Javier scoring when loser Bert Blyleven's attempt to pick off the runner at first went wild.

Boswell, a 20-game winner two years ago, finished last season with a 3-7 record and spent much of the season on the disabled list with an injured back.

Singleton key to Mets' pennant hopes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 15th in a series previewing the major league baseball teams.)

By DICK COUCH
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — If 6-foot-4 Ken Singleton is ready to become one of Gil Hodges' everyday people, the New York Mets might have the pivotman for another National League pennant drive.

Singleton, a 23-year-old switch-hitter who played half of last season with New York after batting .388 in the minors, is a key figure in the Mets' bid to supplement strong pitching with added offensive punch.

But he'll have to deliver, from both sides of the plate, to earn a regular job.

The 1970 Mets led the league in pitching, despite the late-season skid of fatigued Tom Seaver, and were No. 2 in defense. But their batting average of .249 ranked ninth among the 12 teams as they crawled home six lengths behind Pittsburgh's division champs.

Right field, which Hodges split between Singleton, 263, Ron Swoboda, .233, and Art Shamsky, .295, was one of the trouble spots, and it remains one this spring.

Singleton, who had slammed 17 home runs in 64 games with the Mets' Tidewater farm club, connected five times in 69 major league contests. He batted only .234 from the left side. Third base also is up for grabs between veteran Bob Aspromonte and rookie Tim Foll. Aspromonte, acquired in a trade with Atlanta after the Mets unloaded Joe Foy and lost Wayne Garrett to the military, batted .213 for the Braves. Foll hit .261 for Tidewater.

Betty Englerth tips 611 series

Esther Bescup and Betty Englerth recorded peak performances in the Pin Toppler's League at the Westgate Bowl to highlight local bowling action Monday night.

Mrs. Bescup mastered the second highest single game of the season for women with a 257 count for the Watkins Cosmetics team. She finished with a 578 series.

Mrs. Englerth came up with the fifth highest series score of the season by rolling successsive games of 233-193 for a 611 total. It was the first 600-plus series by a woman bowler in Winona since Helen Englerth registered a 624 on March 8.

Shorty's Bar & Cafe came away with team honors in the Pin Toppler's loop and compiled the second highest team game total this season. Shorty's wound up with a team game of 988, second only to a 1,048 compiled by the "Main" in November, and a team series of 2,749.

Sue Glowczewski rapped a 253 game and finished with a series score of 555. Tess Young hit 549. Vivian Brown topped 531. Nelda Helm had a 531. Helen Englerth came in with 528. Irene Bronk rolled 526, and Helen Nelson wound up at 519.

In the men's category Monday night, Dutch Duellmann and Dave Ruppert turned in the top scores with a 248 and a 677 respectively competing in the City League at Hal-Rod Lanes. Duellmann was bowling with the Williams Hotel team and Ruppert for KWNO Radio's five-some. Cheer's Barber Shop notched the high team game with a 1,062 count, and KWNO combined for a 2,996 team series.

Tom Barth followed Ruppert with a 641. Earl Kane topped 624. Duane Nelson continued his torrid streak with a 622. Dick Niemeyer was next with 613, and Bud Berger finished with an even 600.

Ruppert and Berger had er-rorless series as did Bob Schosnow at 567.

HAL - ROP'S: VFW — Ken Hubbard topped 211. Bill Ahrens came up with 580, and Koehler's Body Shop compiled 1,003-2,872.

Park-Ree Jr. Girls — Dana Skappel rolled 147 and a two-game series of 270, and the Lightning Rods totaled 747-1,424.

WESTGATE: Community — Dean Aarre recorded 220. Rich Gehlhaart had 561, and the 1st National Bank wound up with 1,031-2,911.

Westgate Ladies — Pauline Cummings topped 202. Lois Schacht leveled 540. Marbey Anderson came in with 501, and Laehn's House of Beauty combined for 899-2,562.

Alley Gaters — Ruth Olson topped 212. Carol Fenske hit 202, and Hilda Gottschalk came up with a 204 and the first 500-plus series of her career, 531. Fenske Body Shop took team honors with 966-2,552.

Two Warrior matmen lose

AUBURN, Ala. — The two Winona State wrestlers, Bill Hitesman and John Bedtke, competing in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament here were both eliminated in Thursday's opening round.

Hitesman, wrestling in the 165-pound class of the university-level tournament, dropped a 7-4 decision to Tom Corbin of the University of Oklahoma. Corbin finished as the fourth-place winner in the meet.

In one of the most disheartening turn of events of the season, Bedtke was pinned by Brad Crumly of Oregon State in the third period of their 177-pound match after building up a 5-1 lead.

Crumly, who had been seeded No. 2 in the tourney, had the tables turned on him in the semi-finals. After storming out to an 11-2 spread, Crumly also suffered a pin thus preventing Bedtke from entering the wrestling-backs.

Oklahoma State University won the meet for the 27th time with 94 points, and Iowa State was second with 66.

City doubles team ranks 4th in state

EDINA, Minn. — The doubles team of Mike Cyert and Roger Gabrych took over fourth place during the weekend's competition in the Minnesota State Bowling Tournament being conducted at the Biltmore Lanes here.

Cyert leveled a 614 series and Gabrych supplemented that with a 601 effort. The two Winona bowlers were allotted a combined handicap of 98. Steve Buege and Lani Hamernik are the next Winona bowlers listed in the doubles standings with a score of 1,283.

John Walski of Winona, who rapped out a 745 series in the state tourney back on Feb. 21, fell to second place in the singles event standings when another competitor came in with a 748 score.

In the Minnesota State Women's Tournament going on at the Recreation Lanes in Rochester, the Downtown Shell team of Winona moved into second place in the team event standings.

Jan Marquardt's 568 effort led Downtown Shell to a combined total of 2,485. Bolstered by a total handicap of 306, the team fell just four pins shy of the top spot in the standings with 2,791.

Karl Borzyskowski followed Mrs. Marquardt with a 500. Alice Nelzke and Joni Nichols recorded 490 apiece, and Kay Theurer wound up with 428. The team's 948 team game count is good for first place thus far.

Charles Trubl was the leading Winona bowler in the singles category at the state tournament this weekend with a 698 total that included a scratch effort of 622. Winona Abstract recorded the top score in the team event for a Winona entry with 3,021, and Pozanc Trucking was right behind with 3,019.

In the All-Events department, Paul Plachecki finished with 1,935, and Trubl was next with 1,930.

Gordie Fakler registered the top series score for a Winona bowler with a 694 scratch effort in the doubles event. Mike Yahnke and Jim Cisewski had the top single games with 257 and 253 respectively, and Plachecki rolled a 636 in the team event competition.

A total of 20 teams from Winona were involved in the competition along with 40 doubles outfits, and 80 singles bowlers.

MINUTES OF THE SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 611
WINONA, MINNESOTA
MARCH 15, 1971
The meeting was called to order at 7:00 p.m. Allen, Korda, Nelson and Sadowski were absent. The Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents of Schools, Teachers, and reporters for news media and an observer were also present.

Chairman Nelson announced the meeting had been called for three purposes:
1. Adoption of a school calendar.
2. Establishment of a salary base for teachers for 1971-72.
3. To approve a Machine Tool and Die course at the Vocational School.
Korda and Nelson, seconded by Nelson, carried to adopt a school calendar calling for 181 classroom days and 5 workshop days for the 1971-72 school year.

It was moved by Nelson, seconded by Kollinski and carried to issue 1971-72 teaching contracts on the basis of a salary schedule calling for $7100 at the B.A.O. step and $14,100 at the 13th step of the M.A.-30 scale. Such salary will be not to be used as a guide in setting salaries for the 1971-72 school year.

It was moved by Nelson, seconded by Kollinski and carried to expand the Machine Tool and Die course at the Vocational School by the addition of another beginning class and the employment of another instructor to teach the second year of the course.

Assistant Superintendent Mueller outlined plans for the implementation of a Title I program under Public Law 89-10 for the 1971-72 school year.

The Business Manager presented a report showing how a fluctuation in tax rates has come about even though expenditures remain constant.

It was moved by Korda, seconded by Nelson and carried to adjourn the meeting at 8:27 p.m.

Advances hold slight gain on N.Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices hesitantly edged back and forth in today's moderate trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained a mere 0.47 to 903.95.

Advances held a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts observed there was nothing in the news background to give the market a thrust in either direction. They said investors basically were waiting to see how disappointing first-quarter reports would be and how sluggish the economy would be in recovery.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon rose 0.5 to 314.0, with industrials up 0.6, rails up 0.4 and utilities up 0.1. Rubbers were unchanged. Steels, motors, aircrafts and airlines were off. Metals and rails were up. All other stock categories were mixed.

Big Board prices included: Sony, off 1% at 23 1/2; Natamats, up 3% at 15 1/2; Allegheny Corp., up 1% at 15 1/2; Bausch & Lomb, off 3/4 at 8 1/2; Flying Tiger, up 1/4 at 40 1/2; and Ethyl Corp., up 1/4 at 28 1/2.

American Stock Exchange prices included: Extensicare, up 1% at 20 1/2; Allegheny Corp. warrants, up 1% at 13 1/2; Kaiser Industries, up 1/2 at 13 1/2; Syntex, up 1/2 at 50 1/2; and Republic Mortgage Investors warrants, off 1/2 at 8 1/2.
